

“The customer is not always right.”

Wait a minute! What kind of subversive philosophy is that?

Not subversive, it's human, say members of the Homefried Truckstop, a cooperative restaurant near campus. Truckstop philosophy allows everyone to function on a more human level than is generally accepted between customers and restaurant workers.

Get acquainted with the Truckstop family on Page 2B.