

Running research funded

With grants totaling more than $100,000, University researchers are studying the reasons why serious and recreational runners develop foot and knee injuries.

The investigators are also testing persons who have had knee surgery to determine the effectiveness of rehabilitative procedures.

Working in the Biomechanics Sports Medicine Laboratory located in the physical education department are Barry Bates, assistant professor of physical education, Louis Osternig, associate professor of physical education and Dr. Stanley James, surgeon at the Orthopedic and Fracture Clinic in Eugene. James has been an adjunct professor of physical education for three years at the University.

Osternig says they are researching stresses on bones and soft tissues of the leg, foot and knee occurring when individuals run.

Part of this research will include studying shoe constructions and types of rubber and other materials used for shoe supports.

Grants of $70,000 from the Northwest Area Foundation, St. Paul Minnesota; $30,000 from the Blue Ribbon Sports, Inc. and $2,500 from the Prefontaine Foundation will cover University laboratory and staff expenses for the next two years.

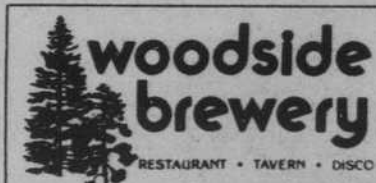

Intern programs available

Information and application forms pertaining to two 1979 federal summer-intern programs are now available in the Career Planning and Placement Service, Room 246, Susan Campbell Hall.

The internships are within the Department of the Treasury and the Department of Transportation.

Only two University students can be nominated for each of the internship programs. To qualify, applicants must be enrolled in a University graduate program in economics, transportation, planning, public management or law. Applicants will be screened on the basis of scholastic ability, leadership ability, honors and awards and career goals.

A faculty committee will make the final nominations. The deadline for applying is March 1.

Corrections, amplifications

Tuition for non-resident graduate students would increase by 32 percent next year if the governor's higher education budget is approved.

The increase was reported Jan. 26 to be 12 percent, but that figure is based on the percentage increase of cost of instruction.

Currently, it costs the state $3,406 to educate a graduate student (based on 12 credit hours). Residents pay $999 per year, or 29.3 percent the cost of their instruction.

Non-resident graduate students pay $1,323 or 38.8 percent. If Atiyeh's proposed increase is accepted, non-residents will pay 50 percent the cost of their instruction, or $1,703.

The story should have read that the tax plan would benefit those whose annual income exceeds $16,000.

LCC offers free class

"English As A Second Language," a tuition-free, non-credit program for people age 16 or older, is available through the adult basic education department at Lane Community College.

Four levels of competency are taught including literacy, beginning, intermediate and advanced. Students may enroll at anytime during the term by registering at the LCC Downtown Center on Mondays or Wednesdays from 10 a.m. to 8 p.m.

For information, call 484-2126, ext. 630.

Park applications open

Applications for summer playground leaders and aides are now available at all four community centers of the Eugene Parks and Recreation Department. The deadline for applications is March 30.

The community centers are Amazon Center at 2700 Hilyard St., 687-5373; Peterson Park Barn at 3825 Royal Ave., 689-1446; Westmoreland Center at 1545 W. 22nd Ave., 687-5312 and Sheldon Center at 2445 Willakenzie Rd., 687-5312.

VOLUNTEERS

The following volunteer positions are open this week. For more information call the Voluntary Action Center at 342-4451.

- A tool repair person is needed to keep tools in good shape for a lending library. This is not necessarily a steady commitment and could fit into a retired person's schedule.
- A nursing home needs someone to make some posters for a reality orientation class. This work can be done at home or at the nursing home.
- A phone receptionist is needed to route calls and answer complaints for three months.
- An assistant for a bowling group on wheels is needed to help unload wheelchairs and bowling equipment. The 10-week course meets Mondays from 1 p.m. to 3 p.m.

MISCELLANEOUS

The Assembly and University Lectures Committee would like to receive requests for funds to support visiting speakers during spring term.

They should be accompanied by a budget, the endorsement of one or more departments, the date or dates of the speech and an idea of what the visitor is to offer and the extent of his appeal. Requests should be sent to English Prof. A. K. Weatherhead by Thursday.

The Lunch Bunch gathers Monday through Friday at noon at the Wesley Center, 1236 Kincaid St. Participants are asked to bring sack lunches.

POLICY

The Emerald's briefs column is open to anyone wishing to announce meetings, lectures or miscellaneous events. Briefs are run only once and are subject to space limitations. They should be typed and triple-spaced in a 65-character margin. Include all pertinent information, including the date you want it to run. Also, include a name and phone number in case we have questions. Events with donations or admission charges will not be accepted.

All items must be turned in by 2 p.m. the day before publication at the Emerald office, Room 300, EMU.
