

emerald sports

weekly supplement

A new face

Today's Emerald sports supplement looks a little different than the rest of today's paper because we are beginning a switch to new typesetting equipment.

The Emerald Sports Magazine

Wednesday, February 21, 1979

To the rescue

Since 1968 the Eugene Mountain Rescue has been involved in searches, rescues and body recoveries in the Cascade Mountains. McKenzie Pass is the base camp for the 50 volunteers, who sometimes require the services of National Guard helicopters. The story on Page 2B elaborates on one of the team's most perilous rescue attempts.

