

Student featured in film

A documentary film about a deaf and blind doctoral student at the University will be shown Saturday throughout the state by the Oregon Educational Public Broadcasting System (OEPBS).

The 28-minute film, "Addie and Dr. Beth," tells the unique story of Addie Becht, the first deaf-blind person in the country ever to enroll in a Ph. D. program.

The program was directed and produced for OEPBS by Eugene filmmakers Sharon Genasci and Kris Jensen. It will be shown at 4:30 p.m. on the "Oregon College Journal" series. It will appear on Channel 7, Corvallis and Eugene; Channel 10 Portland; Channel 3, Salem and Channel 13, LaGrande.

Paulus will lecture

Oregon Secretary of State Norma Paulus will address a University political science class Monday at 10:30 a.m. in Room 110 Fenton Hall.

The topic of Paulus' lecture, which is open to all interested persons, will be the state of Oregon politics.

She will discuss how citizens can participate effectively in the governmental process, according to Paul Glover, University professor of political science.

Art winners announced

Three Eugene artists have been named winners in a competition at the University School of Law to commission art works for the law school building.

They are Glen Povey, 2003 Columbia St.; Steve Gillman, 1202 Barber Dr.; and Elinor Steele, 649 W. 12th Ave. Each will receive $750.

Povey will create three sculptured tapestries, each about four feet wide and five feet tall and framed in wood.

Gillman's work will be a six-foot, 800 pound sculpture of quarried columnar basalt, a material which is natural to the Eugene area.

Steele will design 10 tapestry banners, each about a foot wide and 10 feet long.

The works are expected to be complete and installed by summer.

Law professor honored by legal fraternity

Dominic Vetri, University law professor, has been named this year's "Professor of the Year" by the local chapter of the Phi Delta Phi legal fraternity.

The annual award is based on teaching performance, both in the classroom and on a one-to-one basis, and on ability to maintain a good working relationship with students.

Vetri currently teaches classes on torts, federal courts and copyright. During the 1975-76 school year, he studied products liability at the Institute of Comparative Law at the University of Florence, Italy.

He received a bachelor of science degree in mechanical engineering from the New Jersey Institute of Technology in 1960 and graduated cum laude from the University of Pennsylvania Law School in 1964.

Applications urged

Persons planning to travel abroad this spring or summer should apply for their passports as soon as possible, Eugene Postmaster Ethan Newman said today.

Newman said passport application forms are available at the Eugene Main Post Office, 520 Willamette St., in Room 106.

Persons applying for a passport need a state-certified copy of their birth records, a second form of identification and two duplicate studio photographs taken within the past six months. A passport costs $13 and is good for five years.

Since 1970 the Postal Service has accepted passport applications in a joint effort with the Department of State to provide convenient service to U.S. citizens planning to travel abroad.

Feminist group to perform

The Berkeley Women's Music Collective, a politically oriented group of women musicians, will perform today at the WOW Hall, 8th Avenue and Lincoln Street. The collective will begin their performance at 8:30 p.m. Doors will open at 7 p.m. Tickets will be sold on a sliding scale of $3, $4, and $5.

The group, which originated in the San Francisco Bay Area, fuses music from many different sources, blending Latin, jazz, country, blues and rock.
