

Action center seeks volunteers

There are still openings for volunteers in the Eugene/Springfield area. Tutors with an interest in writing skills are needed to help grade school and junior high students develop competency. Commitment for a minimum of one hour per week in the afternoons is requested.

Shoppers are needed for care center residents who are unable to get out to purchase items. Hours are flexible.

Secretary/receptionists are needed to answer phones, type a monthly newsletter and take minutes. For more information call the Voluntary Action Center at 342-4451 or drop by at 1134 Ferry St.

Quartet, singers will perform

The Women's Choral Society and a harp quartet will perform in Beall Concert Hall tonight at 8 p.m.

Four members of the University Harp Ensemble will perform music by Ravel, Gretry and Liadow. Harpists are Margery Fitts, Laura Zaerr, Margaret Bartels and Terese Weber. General admission is $1.50.

Linguistics prof to speak

Sandra Thompson, a UCLA linguistics professor, will give a lecture on "Transitivity in Grammar and Discourse" at 2:00 p.m. in the EMU (room to be posted).

Professor Thompson is well-known for her research in English and Chinese syntax, and in historical linguistics.

City needs business rep

The City of Eugene is seeking applicants for a small business representative on the new Economic Development Committee.

The committee will coordinate the city's economic development activities and discuss and propose solutions to the city's economic development problems after considering land use arrangements, human resources training needs, economic activity and resource management.

Membership will cover a range of related interest groups within the community, including downtown interests, community labor organizations, neighborhood interests, city council and disadvantaged community groups.

For the purposes of the committee, a "small business" is defined as one with 15 or fewer employees or owners.

Application should be made by letter to City Manager Charles Henry, 777 Pearl St; the deadline is 5 p.m. on April 25. For more information, phone Jim Farah in the City Planning Department at 687-5484.
