

Police need translators

The Eugene Police Department is seeking volunteers who are sufficiently skilled in a second language to assist the department in communicating with non-English speaking people.

Volunteers should live in the Eugene-Springfield area, and be willing to submit to a limited background investigation to insure their reliability. Persons wishing to volunteer or desiring more information should contact Lieutenant Bill DeForrest or Agent Bob Goldsmith at the Eugene Police Department by phoning 687-6156.

Director earns new title

Marliss Strange, associate director of the University of Oregon Office of Academic Advising and Student Services, has been voted president-elect of the Western Regional Association of Advisors for the Health Professions.

Strange is the first woman to be named head of the association in its 10-year history. She will succeed current president Anthony Smolders, professor of chemistry at Loyola Marymount College, this fall. In the past, Strange has served as program director and as a member of the executive committee of the association.

Greyhound's quick cure for the book blues.

The book blues. It's those sleepless nights with visions of exams, pop tests and required reading dancing through your head. They just won't go away.

But you can... with Greyhound. Take off this weekend, visit your family, see your friends... just get out of town and leave the book blues behind. It doesn't cost much and it'll do you a world of good.

So, if you've got the book blues, get on a Greyhound and split. It's a quick cure for what ails you.
