

Survey rates art ed high

The University's art education doctoral program ranked second in the quality of its faculty among 18 similar programs in a recent nationwide survey.

Conducted by the art education department at the University of Illinois, the survey asked faculty at The University of Oregon and at other universities to give professional opinions about the effectiveness of doctoral programs in art education.

Gordon Kensler is acting head of the doctoral program, a part of the University's curriculum and instruction department within the College of Education.

Fireworks and music slated for Fourth

Live music and fireworks will be blasting from Autzen Stadium into the sky for the 29th annual 4th of July fireworks display sponsored by the Active 20-30 Club.

The stadium gates will open at 6:30 p.m. and the entertainment will start at 7:00 p.m. with music provided by Happy Days. The band will be playing tunes from the 1950's until 8:45 p.m. The fireworks will begin around dusk, which was 9:15 p.m. at last year's display, according to Active 20-30 Club chairer Claude Brist.

"There is no admission charge, but we will be asking for donations to help pay for the fireworks," Brist says.

"Both parking lots will be open, but it would be advantageous to park cars in the west parking lot because of falling debris from the fireworks that would be landing on the east parking lot," Brist says.

People watching the fireworks should consider the benefit of seating within the stadium rather than outside areas for two reasons: Stadium spectators can be closer to the live music and some special fireworks are planned, which can only be seen inside the stadium.

"If you keep the fireworks as short as possible," says Brist, "You can keep people's interest." He adds that last year's display lasted around one and a half hours.

Many volunteers needed

The Eugene Voluntary Action Center is looking for volunteers in several areas. Most programs for the elderly, handicapped, children and youths continue during the summer months, and the Center can find some work for anyone with some free hours to fill.

Among the jobs listed at the Center are a recreational coordinator for small children, older men and women to work with babies and young grade-school children, an outreach coordinator for a veterans program and a person to play tapes and read novels to a group of nursing-home residents.

Schedules for these and other volunteer positions range from a few hours to several days a week; times are usually flexible. For more information, contact the Voluntary Action Center at 342-4451, or drop by 1134 Ferry St.
