Calligrapher slates classes

Hella Basu, noted European calligrapher will be in Eugene next week to give a series of workshops on modern techniques for interpretive calligraphy.

Prior registration is required and limited to 25 persons. For registration and information, call Roni Bishop 688-4501 or Edie Roberts 345-2106. The workshops are sponsored by the Valley Calligraphy Guild.

Weekend fairs planned

There will be two festivals in Eugene parks this weekend. Saturday the second annual "The Arts! Festival in the Park" will begin at 10 a.m. and run until 4 p.m. at River Road Park, 1400 Lake Dr. The festival will feature the display and sale of fine art from local and regional artists; included will be painting, photography, fabric art, wood art, stained glass, metal sculpture, calligraphy, jewelry, weaving, quilting and pottery. Demonstrations of feltmaking, pottery and other arts are scheduled throughout the day.

Admission is free; refreshments will also be sold. For more information, contact Reggi Norton or Bonnie Vorenberg at 688-4052.

The second event is the "Neighborhood Cultural Arts Fair" Sunday at Sladden Park on North Adams Street. It will be filled with booths, exhibits and stages.

Many performers will be conducting workshops, in addition to their scheduled appearances. Some of them are: acting classes by ORT member Jane Van Boskirk; disco dancing by Lisa McCarthy; macrame by Mary Dide; puppetry by Carol Wade and storytelling by Cynthia Orr.

The fair will stretch from noon to about 5 p.m.

Minority businesses eyed

The Assistant District Director for minority small business for the U.S. Small Business Administration will be in Eugene Aug. 13 and 14 to counsel with minority business people concerning their planned or existing businesses.

This is part of a continuing program sponsored by the SBA and the Eugene commission on the Rights of Minorities to assist in the development of the minority business community in Eugene. Since the start of this program one year ago, $1.3 million in new business financing assisting 14 minority businesses in Lane County has resulted.

The representative will be available for individual counseling sessions by appointment only through the Eugene City Manager's office, 687-5010. All interviews will be held in the City Council chambers.

Foreign guests from Kakegawa to visit Eugene

Eugeneans have an opportunity for a cultural exchange this summer with 30 visitors from Eugene's sister city, Kakegawa, Japan. The guests arrive today and will stay through Sunday.

In preparation for their visit, members of the Mayor's Sister City Committee are placing displays about Kakegawa throughout the community. Displays will be located at Downtown Center Court, the Eugene Main Library and J.C. Penny and Frederick and Nelson at Valley River Center.

The displays, which are free and open to the public, will show photographs and articles from Kakegawa, a small 1200-year-old city located 145 miles southwest of Tokyo.

Anyone who would like to meet or help entertain guests from Kakegawa should phone Ruth May Thompson at 344-2583.
