FIREMEN'S BALL

With Czech animated short

WHY DO YOU SMILE, MONA LISA?
Directed by Milos Forman (ONE FLEW OVER THE CUCKOO'S NEST and HAIR) FIREMEN'S BALL is one of his first films in his native Czech language. This is a parody-fable of slavish bureaucracy about a group of firemen who stage a ball in honor of their chief who is retiring.
But the old man is quickly forgotten as the affair gives way to torrent of catastrophes. Foremost among the evening's disasters is the funniest and most wonderfully demoralizing beauty contest ever conceived.

PEOPLE OF THE WIND

The Bakhtiari migration-the most hazardous test of human endurance still undertaken, year after year, by an entire people. Set in Western Iran, 500,000 people and millions of animals yearly cross the Zagros Mountains, as high as the Alps and as broad as Switzerland standing between their Winter and Summer pastures. The Bakhtiari are the last of the great nomadic tribes.

"A beautifully photographed, entertaining adventure for those who like to see new faces, new places, new worlds, the film is a must." THE NEW YORK NEWS
