DODESKA DEN

Directed by the great Akira Kurosawa (DERSU UZALA, THE SEVEN SAMURAI), DODESKA-DEN is one of the masterpieces of the Japanese cinema. The story is set in a contemporary shanty town, outside of Tokyo. With tremendous insight and compassion, Kurosawa illumines the lives of the desperately poor inhabitants, many of whom have taken refuge in their own worlds of fantasy. "Akira Kurosawa's DODESKA-DEN is the work of a master, his color has texture not unlike that of Renaissance paintings. And his film is like a painting too-something to be hung in the mind's museum, something to be treasured." N.Y. DAILY NEWS
