

Bliss receives Pac-10 medal

University wrestler Scott Bliss has been chosen as one of ten outstanding student athletes to be awarded the Pacific-10 Conference Medal.

The Conference Medal, the highest honor a Pac-10 athlete can receive, is awarded annually to the outstanding senior student athlete at each Pac-10 institution. It is awarded on the basis of performance and achievement in scholarship, athletics and leadership.

Bliss was a two-time All-America selection in wrestling. In 1979 he capped his career by winning the Pac-10 championship at 150 pounds and finishing as runner-up at the national championships. Bliss established new University records for both victories in a season and victories in a career.

The rest of the 1980 medal winners are football players Jeff Whitton of Arizona, Brad Budde of Southern California, and Bruce Harrell of Washington, wrestlers Dave Severn of Arizona State and Howard Harris of Oregon State, basketball players Doug True of California and Kiki Vandeweghe of UCLA, baseball player Paul Zuvella of Stanford and track and field performer Jim Jesernig of Washington State.

You made my birthday oh so nice
Just thought I'd thank you once or twice
The cake was fine
The rose divine
When September comes, I'll make you mine.
Love always, Daniel
