

Women hoopsters nab air time

Home games for the women's basketball team will be broadcast locally by KRVM (91.9 FM) beginning Dec. 13 when the Ducks face Weber State in Mac Arthur Court.

KRVM is licensed to the Eugene School District 4-J as a non-commercial station with all programming done by students. Powered by 1900 watts, the station can be heard throughout the Eugene-Springfield area, on the coast via cable and in Salem at night.

The prospect of radio broadcasts is exciting, says basketball coach Elwin Heiny, who is coaching his fifth women's team at Oregon.

"Getting this out to the public is actually doing more for women's sports, because the more we get publicized the more of a following we'll have."

With five of the 10 home games for women scheduled as doubleheaders with the men's team, fans who want to watch the women will not be able to without purchasing tickets to see the men. KRVM is broadcasting all five games.

Two games will not be broadcast because of a conflict with high school basketball, KRVM's top priority, and one Sunday game will not be aired because the station operates Monday through Saturday only. However, the station is extending its Saturday hours, normally 10 a.m. to 6 p.m., to broadcast the other games.

Funds for the broadcasts are provided in part by grants from the Eugene Register-Guard, Charlie's Pool Hall, Nike, University Travel and the Daisy Ducks.

THE BROADCAST SCHEDULE:
Dec. 13, Oregon vs. Weber State at 5:35 p.m.; Jan. 10, Oregon vs. Boise State at 5:35 p.m.; Feb. 11, Oregon vs. Oregon State at 7:20 p.m.; Feb. 20, Oregon vs. Washington State at 5:35 p.m.; Feb. 21, Oregon vs. Western Washington at 5:35 p.m.; Feb. 28, Oregon vs. Washington at 7:20 p.m.; March 7, Oregon vs. Portland State at 5:35 p.m.

Men booters avenge defeat with Pilot upset

Avenging an earlier defeat, the men's club sport soccer team upset second-place University of Portland 2-1 in an aggressive contest Saturday.

The Ducks dominated much of the play in the Northwest Collegiate Soccer Conference match. The win upped the club's record to 3-4-1 and makes it the top team from Oregon in the league.

After Portland missed a penalty kick in the first half, Oregon grabbed control on a goal by Bob Keedy on an assist by Paul Bosanko.

In the second half, the Ducks sank their winning point on a kick from Jerry Brown from the right wing, also assisted by Bosanko.

"This victory really justifies our hard work this season," Brown said. "The Pilots are athletic department organized and recruited from England. It shows we can compete with the strongest teams of our league."

The Ducks will play Oregon State University in a final post-season match Saturday at 1 p.m. at Marist High School.
