

Eight Chargers named to AP All-Pro team

NEW YORK (AP) — Explosiveness is the word to describe the San Diego Chargers — and they burst onto the Associated Press' All-Pro team in 1980 with eight players, five of them as starters.

Defensive end Fred Dean, defensive tackle Gary "Big Hands" Johnson, tight end Kellen Winslow and wide receivers John Jefferson and Charlie Joiner are the first-team Chargers named Wednesday to the AP's team of National Football League all-stars. Quarterback Dan Fouts, place-kicker Rolf Benirschke and defensive tackle Louie Kelcher are San Diego's second-team representatives.

Of the 50 first- and second-team players picked by a nationwide panel of 84 sportswriters and sports broadcasters, three from each NFL city, 27 players came from the American Conference and 23 from the National Conference. But on the first team, the AFC is far more dominant with 16 players to nine from the NFC. It reflects the AFC's domination during the season, when it won 33 of 54 games from the NFC.

Fouts, who passed for an NFL-record 4,715 yards this year and made the Chargers the first team in NFL history to have three 1,000-yard receivers in a season, finished second in the All-Pro balloting to Cleveland's Brian Sipe, the top-rated passer according to the league's formula. Winslow caught a league-high 89 passes for 1,290 yards, Jefferson had an NFL-high 1,340 yards on 82 receptions and Joiner added 1,132 yards on 71 catches.

In the first-team backfield are Houston's Earl Campbell, who gained 1,934 yards in 1980 to lock up his third rushing title in three pro seasons, and Chicago's Walter Payton, who earned his fifth consecutive NFC rushing crown.

The Pittsburgh Steelers put three players on the All-Pro team, all of them starters — middle linebacker Jack Lambert, center Mike Webster and strong safety Donnie Shell.

Cleveland, Houston, Oakland and Los Angeles have two first-team players apiece — Sipe and defensive end Lyle Alzado of the Browns, Campbell and tackle Leon Gray of the Oilers, outside linebacker Ted Hendricks and cornerback Lester Hayes of the Raiders, and cornerback Pat Thomas and free safety Nolan Connell of the Rams.

Guards John Hannah of New England and Herbert Scott of Dallas, tackle Mike Kenn of Atlanta, defensive tackle Charlie Johnson of Philadelphia, outside linebacker Matt Blair of Minnesota, punter Dave Jennings of the New York Giants, place-kicker Ed Murray of Detroit and kick-returner J.T. Smith of Kansas City round out the first team.

Campbell: $6-million man?

HOUSTON (AP) — Earl Campbell's agent Witt Stewart said Wednesday the three-time National Football League rushing champion is seeking a $1 million per year deal with the Houston Oilers and will sit out next season if the team refuses to renegotiate his contract.

Stewart said he and Campbell had decided during the 1980 season they would talk again with the Oilers, who renegotiated the former Heisman Trophy winner's contract last February, and seek another contract.

Stewart said he didn't want to discuss details of his contract proposal, but when asked if $1 million per year for six years was close he replied, "That's pretty close."

There is nothing complicated about what happens next, Stewart said.

"There are no loopholes," Stewart said. "The Oilers can renegotiate Earl's contract, trade him, or Earl Campbell can't play pro football for the next five years."

Oilers General Manager Ladd Herzog already has said the team would not, "under any circumstances," renegotiate Campbell's contract.

Campbell, who has five years remaining on the contract that pays him an estimated $500,000 annually, did not attend a news conference called by Stewart and has refused to talk about his contract problems.

"It's not really a matter of money," Stewart said. "It gets down to what is fair to one man. Earl came out of college and someone negotiated what they thought was a good contract. But it was a bad deal and the Oilers have tried to hang that over Earl's head."
