Celebrate your birthday with an "antique cocktail dresser." One drink and your drawers fall apart. — Hallmark

One person rejoices over his while another person cries over hers. He thinks of his as a milestone on the road to knowledge while she thinks of hers as one stop closer to hell.

Whatever your view on birthdays, the new year brings another one to reckon with. Perhaps this time you can think of your birthday as Lucy of Peanuts' fame thinks of hers — the anniversary of the day the world was blessed with your wonderful presence.

Such a grand day warrants a grand celebration, and Breakfast in Bed Inc. offers one of the grandest. They come to your home, cook eggs Benedict and pecan waffles in your kitchen and serve it to you in bed with pastries, fruit, fresh orange juice, coffee, champagne and roses.

Because such extravagance costs $35 for one and $45 for two, arrange for someone to give it to you as a gift. Tell them to call 687-8827 one day in advance.

If you have the money, you could impress a birthday boy or girl by picking them up via limousine and red carpet. Capone's Limousine Service charges $25 for a "regular" ride, $35 for a ride with two gangsters, plus another $5 if you want the red-carpet treatment. Call Capone at 484-9559 for an appointment.

Of course, birthday parties are the ultimate American celebration. And the ultimate celebration begins and ends in a hot tub. Finding an available tub is unlikely and buying one is at least $2,000 too expensive.

The Steam Works at 154 Lawrence St., 485-5879, rents five-foot-in-diameter by four-foot-deep hot tubs for a 24-hour period. They deliver and set up the tub with trailer and deck for $100.

A cheaper and more novel party awaits birthday celebrators at Farrell's Ice Cream Parlor, 13th Avenue and Pearl Street. Farrell's Zoo Party includes hats, funmakers and five pounds of ice cream with bananas, cream topping, nuts and cherries.

Ten or more people can partake of Farrell's Volcano Party, featuring flaming ice cream with hot fudge sauce. The zoo version costs $2.75 per person, the volcano version costs $2.65 per person, and the mound is zoomed to your table with a thundering drum and screeching siren.

If you're embarrassed by all the merrymaking, you can go it alone and ask for a free sundae on your birthday sans drum and siren.

The Spagetti Warehouse at 751 W. 1st St. also gives away birthday fare. The day before, the day of or the day after your birthday, you can receive a free spaghetti dinner, salad, bread and ice cream.

Or if you're really cheap, and you work at the Emerald, you can put free birthday messages in.

Happy birthday Don, Kim and Rebecca.
