Prepare For: April 4, 1981

MCAT

Stanley H. KAPLAN Educational Center

Call Days Evenings & Weekends

Eugene: 485-5699
Course Beg. Jan. 31

Portland: 222-5556
Course Beg. Jan. 24

TEST PREPARATION SPECIALISTS SINCE 1938

For Information About Other Centers In More Than 80 Major US Cities & Abroad

Outside NY State CALL TOLL FREE: 800-223-1782

Nightmare becomes reality as Cards drop mini-squad Ducks

By JODY MURRAY
Of the Emerald

After Saturday night's 82-76 loss to Stanford, Oregon basketball coach Jim Haney was asked a question that should only occur in basketball coaches' nightmares.

"What happens if you have only four players left?"

Haney looked at the floor and rubbed the back of his neck with his hand.

"I guess we just keep on playing," he said quietly.

Four players are out — two for the rest of the season and one other that could possibly join them. That leaves only eight players for the Ducks to choose from.

Against the Cardinals, Oregon played the last two minutes of the game with only five players — Felton Sealey, David Brantley and John Greig fouled out. Mike Clark had three fouls when Grieg left the game, and picked up one more in the remaining seconds.

Oregon came sickeningly close to a four-man team.

But the Ducks really sank in the first half. Oregon, shooting only .393 from the field, trailed Stanford by 14 points at halftime.

"I thought we were horrible," said Haney of the first half. "To use more earthy terms, we had no heart, no intelligence and no intestinal fortitude."

Fear of fouls by Oregon players allowed the Cards to penetrate to the basket, Haney said. "We were passive in everything we did.

"We were concerned with not getting fouls but got ourselves into foul trouble anyway.

"It gets trying being the one who learns the lesson rather than the one who gives the lesson."

The loss was Oregon's third straight, all of them conference games. Stanford improved to 1-2.

The Cards were paced by Brian Welch and John Revelli with 19 points each. The Ducks were once again led by Clark with 14 points, followed by Brantley with 13. Greig led Oregon rebounders with 11.

Inside the Oregon locker-room, freshman guard John Cheatham mustered some quiet confidence for his team. "It's going to start falling together soon. I'm not going to give up, and neither is anybody else on this squad."

Gustafson's three wins lead Oregon past PSU

Led by Sara Gustafson's three individual victories and a sweep in the all-around competition, the improving Oregon women's gymnastics team beat Portland State University 129.5-109.15 Saturday.

The victory improved the Ducks record to 1-0 in league competition and 2-0 overall, but Oregon coach Henriette Heiny wasn't satisfied with Oregon's team score.

"We showed definite improvement over our last meet," said Heiny. "And if we go from meet to meet improving at this pace, I think we will score 140 by the end of the season."

The Ducks, a heavy favorite over the weaker Vikings, won every event. Gustafson, a junior who competeted in last year's AIAW nationals, captured first in the vault (9.1), balance beam (8.2), and floor exercises (8.45).

Holly Homes, a freshman recovering from a preseason ankle sprain, took first place in the uneven bars (8.35), while Gustafson was third.

Oregon freshman Maureen Nolan put together a second and fifth in the uneven bars and vault, along with third places in the balance beam and floor exercises to take second in the all-around (32.2).

Gustafson scored a 33.70 to take the all-around competetion, while Homes scored 31.75 for third place.

The Ducks next action comes Saturday in a triangular dual meet against the University of Alberta and Hayward State.

emu Food Service

library turnaround

9:30-2:00

15th and kincaid

PRE-LAW?
POLITICAL SCIENCE
MAJOR?

You can gain valuable experience, earn academic credit and help protect Oregon's future by working on legislation at the 1981 Oregon Legislative Session.

Work is already under way at the Survival Center on bills dealing with

HERBICIDES PACKAGING
AIR POLLUTION ELECTION LAW REFORM

For more information on how you can get involved contact Rich or Dave at the Survival Center, Suite 1, EMU, x-4356.

KZEL 96

Welcomes National Headliner

JIM CARROLL

For a night of live Rock & Roll you won't forget, Tuesday, January 13th. Sneakers opens the show.

Advance tickets $4 at Grand Illusions, Everybody's Record Company, and Mr. Mike's Really Reusable Records. $4.50 day of the show.

412 Pearl GRAND ILLUSIONS 683-5104