LUNA

Italy's most talented director, Bernardo Bertoucci, directed this controversial, bold drama. Jill Clayburgh gives her tour de force performance as a recently divorced widowed opera star whose career has given her precious little time for her teenage son. She takes him to Rome hoping the trip might bring them closer together, but she is unaware of his emotional turmoil. When she discovers his addiction to heroin, she dedicates herself to helping him. Through the difficult ordeal of aiding her son to find his identity, she redefines her own. LUNA addresses the dichotomy between career and family for successful women and the despair of a new generation of young people without focus. Some Italian sequences with subtitles.

SUMMER PARADISE

Directed by Gunnel Lindblom, a protege of Ingmar Bergman, SUMMER PARADISE is the story of four generations of one family who gather for the summer at the seaside retreat. The head of the family is Katha, whose loving nature has made her a source of strength to her aging parents, her daughters and her grandchildren. Struggling to understand the lives and problems of her family and their friends, Katha's faith in the family is shaken by tragedy and profound questions are raised about the nature of the family and its survival in an age of social change.
