

Golfers nab ninth in Seattle, fail to qualify at OSU meet

The women's golf team opened its 1981 season with a ninth-place finish at the University of Washington's Husky Invitational, March 23-25, but failed to qualify the next day at the Oregon State Invitational.

Oregon's team score of 1190 placed it well behind first-place UCLA, which finished with 952.

Sue Schoedal was tops for the Ducks with a 278 in the 54-hole tourney. Marti Loeb followed with 290.

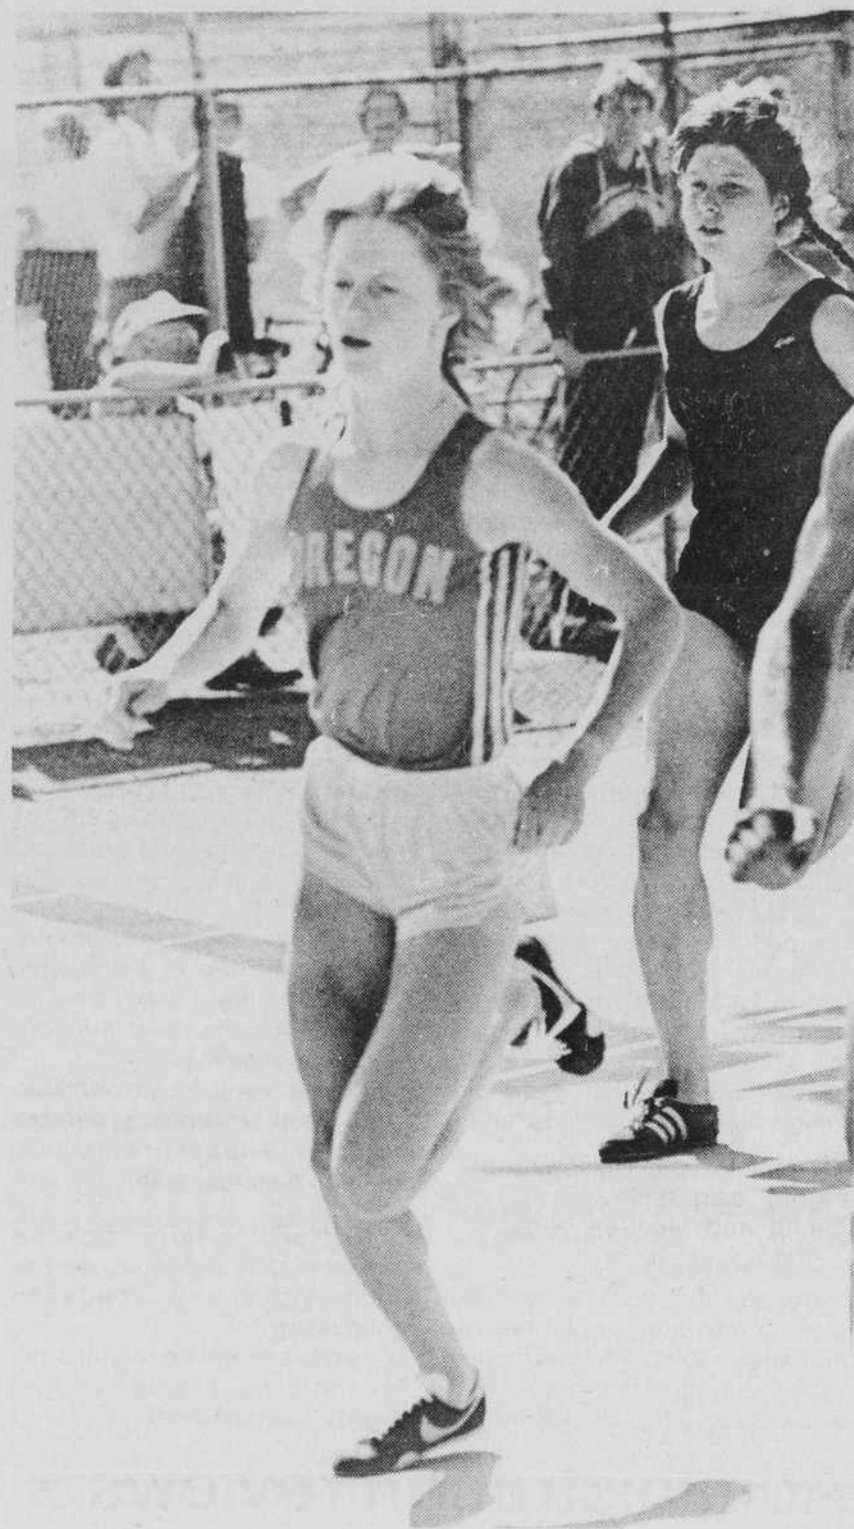

In the Oregon State meet, Loeb bowed out after 18 holes with a back injury, leaving the Ducks shorthanded and unable to qualify for the final round.

The men's team placed fifth in the University of Pacific Invitational, March 26-27. San Jose University took first with a 1080 team score. Oregon tallied 1134.

Dennis Dachtler led Oregon with a 222 in the 54-hole tourney, followed by Eric Johnson's 229.

The men's team will travel to Fresno State for the Pepsi Cola Classic, April 9-11. The women's next meet is the Portland Invitational, April 5-7.

Spikers set high marks

The men's and women's track teams enjoyed considerable success last weekend in their respective meets.

The men easily won the Louisiana State Invitational Saturday, outdistancing the host team, 172-100. The Ducks posted a string of good early season marks. A notable achievement was freshman Don Ward's 50.99 time in the 400 intermediate hurdles, which ranks second on the all-time Oregon list.

Last Friday, the women competed in the Martin Luther King Games in Palo Alto, Calif. Oregon sophomore Leann Warren, running unattached, won the 800 in 2:03.9. She beat Tennessee's Delissa Walton, who had beat Warren in last year's AIAW championship race.
