From Associated Press Reports

EUGENE — A negotiating session between teachers and school district officials has been tentatively scheduled for April 13 in a labor dispute here.

State mediator John Vale was assigned to the dispute Monday after contract talks broke off in mid-March.

Spokespersons for the two sides said 18 issues are unresolved, including salaries.

Eugene teachers are asking for a one-year contract with a 16.6 percent wage increase.

The school district has offered a three-year contract with a seven percent wage increase each year.

PORTLAND — Figures released Tuesday by the FBI show the incidence of crime increased by more than 10 percent in Oregon's two largest cities in 1980.

In Portland, the crime index increased 13.1 percent over the last year. In Eugene, the incidence of crime was up 11.2 percent.

Portland police agencies reported an increase in every category of major crime, except motor vehicle thefts.

Both cities reported increases in the number of murders, robbery, aggravated assault, burglary and larceny theft.

CORVALLIS — Former U.S. Agriculture Secretary Earl Butz said Monday night that American farmers hold the key to peace in the world.

"If there is any challenge facing mankind tonight, it is the challenge of peace," Butz said in a speech at the Oregon State University school of agriculture's 1981 honors dinner.

"Those of us in the food business are in the front line of this challenge of peace. Hungry men speak only one language," Butz said. "And the food industry has the capacity to speak it."

Citing current unrest in Poland as an example, Butz said the problem there is food. Humans have a right to food and that right cannot be put on hold while new scientists are trained or better production techniques are perfected, he said.

The former agriculture secretary reminded his audience of almost 800 farmers, ranchers, students, and faculty that two-thirds of the world has inadequate food supplies.

In the United States, on the other hand, only 4 per cent of the people are farmers and Americans spend a smaller share of pay for food than anyone else does.

"We've learned to feed ourselves with a shirt-tail full of resources and a little know-how," Butz said. "We must learn in this next generation to feed as many people as have been fed so far in history."

with bachelor's degrees make between $8,000 and 12,000 a year.

Psychology research associate Harold Hawkins says the job outlook for master's and doctorate graduates is brighter.

Graduates with doctorate degrees usually land jobs as researchers for companies like International Business Machines Corp. and Bell Laboratories or governmental organizations like the National Aeronautics and Space Administration and the Air Force, Hawkins says.

"Most of the research has to do with man-machine design," he says.

Graduates with master's degrees work in industrial-organizational psychology or community program evaluation, he says.

The psychology department offers a two-year masters program to work in human services organizations with human resource planning.

Masters and doctorate graduates who work for a company can expect to earn salaries between $20,000 and 30,000 a year, and up to $50,000 a year in consulting jobs.

Evidence issue in 'I-5' case

SALEM (AP) — An attorney for a man charged with four violent crimes attributed to the so-called I-5 bandit asked a judge today for more time to examine evidence that will be destroyed through scientific testing.

Charles Burt said he has not been provided the bulk of the prosecution's evidence against Randall Woodfield, 30, of Springfield, who has pleaded innocent to murder, attempted murder and sodomy charges in Marion County Circuit Court.

He is charged with the Jan. 18 shooting death of Shari Hull and attempted murder of Lisa Garcia, both 20.

Judge Wallace Carson Jr. postponed setting a trial date because of Burt's request. He set another hearing for 8 a.m. Friday.

Burt said inspection of some of the physical evidence was all the more important because some of it would be destroyed by sophisticated tests planned by District Attorney Chris Van Dyke.

Burt said he did not know what kinds of evidence would undergo the testing and Van Dyke declined to say.

"I'm not being critical of the district attorney," Burt said. "This is an unusual type of case."
