Mixed Nuts®

Schools exchange minority names

The Western Name Exchange is a group of 27 universities that has banded together to recruit minority graduate students.

The University sends a list of minority juniors and seniors to the 27 universities and receives a list of minority juniors and seniors in return.

Students interested in participating can send their names, addresses, present or most recently attended undergraduate institution, and expected graduate date to The Western Name Exchange, care of The Western Interstate Commission for Higher Education, P.O. Drawer P, Boulder, Colorado 80302.

For more information call Fran Barkan at 686-5132.
