

'Man, what a bummer'

Peace groups support Soviets in Alaska

By MI KRUST
Of the Immoral

The United States is overreacting to the recent Soviet invasion of Alaska, several campus leaders said Tuesday.

Student opponents of the proposed American intervention in Alaska quickly mobilized and held a noon rally on campus.

"We rejoice with our comrades in Alaska who have shaken off the bonds of American imperialism and the domination of the oil companies," said Linda Screechy of the Arctic People's Solidarity Committee.

Screechy said all students who desire to know the real story of the Alaskan invasion should read The Burning Ice-block, "the only Arctic nationalist newspaper in the world."

The APSC, an organization of people who wish they had been born in the Arctic Circle, is affiliated with the Arctic Peoples' Soviet Party.

"How many of you are going to be fooled into fighting in Alaska?" asked Alvin Siphon of the Coalition Opposed to Life and Death (COLD).

"First there was Vietnam, and then that place in Africa and I think maybe a couple of places in Latin America, too. Or maybe it was in the Persian Gulf. When will you begin to educate yourselves?"

University sociology Prof. Dick Wormy told the seven people at the rally that he fears the Reagan administration will use the invasion to justify increased military spending.

"I can't really say that I approve of any country having troops anywhere," Wormy said. "But I'm pretty disgusted by all this knee-jerk talk of 'Soviet imperialism.'"

"Inbred nationalism" and "economic royalism" are at the root of American objection to the Soviet invasion, he said.

"Let's not make any quick value judgments," he said. "After all, we forget that collusion between American corporate interests and Czarism engineered the so-called 'purchase' back in the 1860s. Really, they have as much right to be there as we do."

Don Fliskieurtbnwesky, also a sociology professor, said he agrees that Americans are overreacting.

"I'm really upset by all this talk of an 'invasion,'" he said. "The Pentagon is trying to manufacture an incident out of what is a fraternal effort on the part of a few Russian divisions to support the Alaskan revolution."

Students reacted to the rally and news of the invasion with consternation and puzzlement.

"Isn't that up in Canada or somewhere? This doesn't mean I'm going to be drafted, does it?" asked undeclared freshman Jim Inocuous.

"There's going to be a war? Man, what a bummer," said Buck Prickly, a sophomore who said he takes only ESCAPE and SEARCH classes.

Tomseth rescue attempt fails

A failed attempt to rescue ex-hostage Victor Tomseth from Springfield ended last night in the deaths of nine U.S. commandos.

Springfield police said the nine died when they were thrown by a mechanical bull in a local tavern.

Tomseth's whereabouts remained unclear Wednesday morning. The Springfield High School Band threatened after the raid to move him to a closed-down Georgia-Pacific lumber mill. Before the raid, Tomseth was being held in the business district by the Chamber of Commerce and local television reporters.

The latest pictures of Tomseth, broadcast by ABC's "Nightline," show him bound in yellow ribbons with a microphone stuffed in his mouth.

Details of the raid were sketchy at presstime, but this much is known:

Dressed in flannel shirts, down vests and shit-kicker boots, the 34 commandos rode six

Lane Transit District buses from downtown Eugene to Glenwood. After obtaining tokens for the return trip, they got off the buses and commandeered pick-up trucks for the final leg of the journey.

Here the raid apparently went awry. The plans called for hijacking pick-ups with rifles mounted in the back, which would be used as weapons in the raid. But only five suitable trucks could be found. Ten of the commandos drove them to a local tavern and waited for the rest to find transportation.

There, nine of them died after they challenged each other to ride the mechanical bull.

Springfield officials have threatened to hold another parade because of the incident.

"Nightline" anchor Ted Koppel, the "Koppeltollah" in whose name Tomseth was captured, warned he would "skip a few days" in his latest hostage countdown if another raid is attempted.

Classifieds

Typing

NEED TYPING DONE? It's a bit late to think of that, isn't it? 4650:tfn

Roommates

ASEXUAL ROOMMATE with little pubic hairs wanted to join progressive household into Ouija boards, rock & roll and murder trials. 689-1321, Dawn. 4-3

Lost/Found

LOST: One well-worn copy of "Law of Mass Communications." Please return to Immoralid office. Quickly. 4-1

Recreation

I WANT TO POUR grape yogurt into your navel, and rub my — my nose in it. Then — then I want to stick your guppy in a microwave and have you sit on my face and, uh, feed it to me. Hahahahahahaha (Click — buzzzzzzzz) 4-1:pm

FOR TODAY'S CLASSIFIED FOULIE we will give $5 to the first person who is not offended by this paper. 4-1

Events

GEEK RUSH:
The chickens are ready. 4-1

Opportunities

HEY, MAX RIJKEN!

State Representative and
Keeper of Clean Language

CRAM THESE WORDS UP YOUR XEROX:

TWAT
SHIT
FART
ASSHOLE
CUNT
PUDENDUM
BUTT-FUCK
CUNNILINGUS
CLITORIS
MASTURBATE
FIRST AMENDMENT

Entertainment

Visit Eugene's Drive-Thru
Dead Animal Park
Open daily on Franklin Blvd.

LEONETTI HAYNES FAN CLUB
Meets tonight behind the Sawayay. 4-1

Personals

HARRY: Meet me for a nosh enema in the courtyard. LUIGI 8382:tfn

GREG Fuck off. LOVE, EVERYONE ELSE 4-1

HOW MANY BASKETBALL PLAYERS does it take to screw in a light bulb?
It doesn't matter — they always drop it at the last moment anyway. 4-1

SCUBA DIVERS do it under water. 4-1

LAWYERS do it in their briefs. 4-1

JOURNALISTS don't use euphemisms — they fuck. 4-1

THERE WAS A YOUNG MAN named McNamiter

With a tool of prodigious diameter
But it wasn't the size
Gave the girls a surprise,
'Twas his rhythm — iambic pentameter. 4-1

IT'S HARD TO SAY which is worse — constipation or the discomfort which always accompanies it. 4-1

It rained at the beach,
And you forgot the leech,
But we didn't mind the weather
When we dressed in our leather.
Coitus, coitus, you are the sweetest. 4-1

I'M SO GODDAM HORNY that the crack of dawn better be careful around me. TOM 4-1

peanuts envy

SPECIAL!

Goobers

$1<sup>18</sup>/LB

ON THE MALL

WITHOUT ERRANT JONES,
THESE TREES
WOULD BE FOR THE BIRDS.

BEFORE
cluttered
mountainside

AFTER
clear view

AT ERRANT JONES LUMBER,
WE CARE

— ABOUT ERRANT JONES

Classified FOLLIES!

GABE BIRD

WON $5
for answering
Tuesday's Foulie:

OLD YELLER FANS! The first person who shoots his dog in front of the EMU after 12:30 wins $5 from ODI Classifieds. 3-21

Look for today's Classified Foulie!