Klutznick fills law chair

Philip Klutznick, secretary of commerce during the last year of the Carter presidency, has been chosen to fill the Wayne Morse Chair of Law and Politics at the University this spring.

A prominent Chicago attorney and businessman, Klutznick will be at the University from April 27 until May 8 to lecture, meet with a variety of classes and confer with faculty and students.

"Philip Klutznick's interests and experience have covered a range of fields from international relations to major urban economic development to federal government service as secretary of commerce," says

Emory Via, director of the University Labor Education and Research Center and chair of the faculty committee on the Morse chair. "He will be offering the campus and the state intellectually stimulating presentations that are backed by a wealth of first-hand experience and by many years of public service."

Klutznick's first lecture is scheduled for Tuesday, April 28, at 3:30 p.m. in the Gerlinger Alumni Lounge. He will speak on "The American Economy: An Assessment."

He also will speak at 3:30 p.m. Wednesday, May 6, in the EMU Dad's Room.

University graduates are encouraged to apply for the 1981 Eric Englund scholarship for post-graduate study in American studies, including literature, history or related subjects.

The $2,000 scholarship allows further study at any college or university selected by the student with the advice and approval of University authorities.

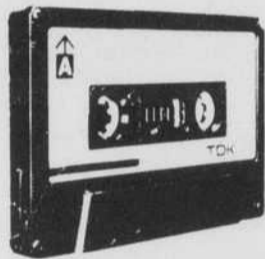

American studies may include American civilization, ethnic studies, folklore and linguistics. A student need not have an undergraduate degree in English or history to be considered.

Applicants should submit a proposal listing the support of a faculty member familiar with the student's work to Thelma Greenfield, acting English department head, Room 118 PLC. Deadline is April 17.

A committee of English and history faculty members will make the final selection. They are history Profs. Edwin Bingham and Richard Brown and English Profs. Clark Griffith and Glen Love.
