

Equestrians prepare for spring horse show

Jumpers, pleasure and stock horses and their riders will be gathering in Corvallis for a two-day horse show that will feature both English and Western riding.

The show, co-sponsored by Oregon's Equestrian Club and the Oregon State club, will be held at Manchester Arena, the OSU Horse Center, Saturday and Sunday.

"We're much stronger in the English events that we are in the Western events," says club member Beth Raffety. Eleven riders will be competing Saturday for the Ducks in the English events, which include collegiate jumpers, English equestrian hunter seat and English pleasure hunter seat.

Six riders are entered in the collegiate Western events, including stock seat, Western pleasure and bareback equestrian.

Gymnasts set for Emerald Cup

An all-star cast will assemble Saturday night in McArthur Court for the eighth annual Emerald Empire Cup.

The gymnastics spectacular, presented by the National Academy of Artistic Gymnastics, has added men's competition for the first time.

Some of the world's top male and female gymnasts, including Olympians Bart Conner, Tracee Talevera and Julie McNamara, will be competing for the coveted cup.

"The male counterparts we were able to attract to Eugene this year signal the importance of this meet on a national basis," says Hideo Mizoguchi, director of the NAAG boy's program.

Oregon's Kelly Crumley will also be competing in Saturday's meet. However, James Yuhashi, who won the NCAA title this month in the floor exercise, will sit out this meet.

Yuhashi shocked the gymnastic world with a never-done-before 1 1/4 twist on his mount in the floor exercise.

Also competing will be Tony Pineda, a native of Mexico, who will be making his American debut. Pineda has been training at the NAAG and represents the first national men's competitor for the academy.

Emerald Empire Cup competition will begin at 7 p.m. Saturday. Tickets are available at the athletic ticket office or at the gate.

Soccer squad enters tourney; Potestio hurt

Oregon's women's soccer team will face some of the West Coast's top soccer squads today and Saturday at the Westmont tournament in Santa Barbara, Cal.

The Ducks will open the single-elimination tournament against an experienced Stanford team, but will be without the services of All-American forward Michele Potestio, who is recovering from knee surgery.

The winner of the Oregon-Stanford game will face the winner of the match between Cal-Berkeley and UC Santa Barbara match. The tournament also includes UCLA (ranked number two nationally), Arizona, Westmont and Chico State.

Eugene wants coaches for spring sports

The Eugene Sports Program is looking for coaches to oversee softball and baseball teams during the spring.

Positions are open at all age groups, which go from third to ninth grade. The first practice for both sports is May 4 and each season continues through late July.

Anyone interested in a coaching position should contact Garth Jackson at 683-2373.

Net team meets Northwest foe

Oregon's women's tennis team will take on its toughest Northwest foe this weekend when it hosts the University of Washington Saturday.

The Huskies are the favorite to again take the regional title.

The Ducks, paced by Lindsay Bartlett who is undefeated in dual matches this season, are 8-1 for the season after winning the Southern Oregon Invitational last Sunday.
