

Newsmen named Ruhl fellows

Two Oregon newspaper executives will be Ruhl Fellows this month at the University journalism school as part of the sixth annual Ruhl Symposium on journalistic ethics and press performance.

Mike Forrester, editor of the daily East Oregonian in Pendleton, will meet with five journalism classes today through Wednesday. Leroy Zimmerman, publisher of the weekly Cottage Grove Sentinel, will meet with five classes from Monday, April 20, through Wednesday, April 22.

Forrester received his bachelor's degree in journalism from the University in 1960. He was on the staff of the Coos Bay World, the Eugene

Register-Guard and the Los Angeles bureau of Associated Press before becoming editor of the Daily Astorian in 1969. In 1973, he became editor of the East Oregonian. He is a member of American Society of Newspaper Editors and is a member of the board of directors of the Oregon Newspaper Publishers Association.

Zimmerman is a 1958 graduate of the William Allen White School of Journalism at the University of Kansas and was a newspaperman in Iowa before becoming advertising manager of the Sentinel in 1962. He subsequently was news editor, then managing editor before becoming publisher in 1964.
