Seniors swirl

Health Faire participants stretched for the sky yesterday during a session of cooperative dance therapy for the elderly. The therapy offers gentle exercise to aid circulation and strengthen limbs, emphasizing sweeping movements and easy stretching.

Program lets state accountants display wealth of knowledge

An accounting department program that brings state accountants to campus twice yearly continues today with the visit of a Eugene accountant.

John Gregor, president of Gregor Mason McCracken, will meet with accounting and non-accounting majors in his first of five days as a "Partner-In-Residence."

Gregor will give three workshop-type seminars, visit classes and hold office hours. Only invited accounting majors may attend the seminars, says accounting Prof. Marinus Bouwman. Gregor's office hours are open to anyone interested in accounting.

A 1956 graduate of the University's business college, Gregor worked as a Portland accountant, U.S. Army auditor and Eugene staff accountant before founding the Eugene public accounting firm in 1963.

Gregor's seminars will focus on municipal auditing and government compliance. About 15 students can attend each seminar — only "top" accounting students are selected, Bouwman says.

Gregor does not have office hours until his April 21 visit, when he will be available in Room 361 Gilbert Hall from 11-11:45 a.m. and 3-3:30 p.m.

A detailed schedule of Gregor's visit is posted in the display case across from Room 271 Gilbert Hall.

Easter services provide for all

University students can choose from a variety of services and music planned by Eugene-area churches for the upcoming Easter weekend.

"The Road to Calvary," a dramatic presentation of the passion of Christ, will be performed Easter Sunday at the Willamette Christian Center, 2500 E. 18th Ave. Free tickets are available for five performances — 7 a.m., 9 a.m., 11 a.m., 3:30 p.m. and 4:30 p.m.

The Newman Center will hold a Good Friday Ecumenical Service today from 12-3 p.m., featuring the Stations of the Cross and the Liturgy of the Seven Words. There also will be an evening mass tonight at 7:30, a Saturday night Easter Vigil at 11 p.m. and three Easter Sunday services at 7:30 a.m. (in Spanish), 9:30 a.m. and 11 a.m. The Newman Center is located at 1850 Emerald St.

Faith Center will have an Easter Morning Worship Service at the Lane County Fairgrounds Convention Center at 10 a.m. Coffee will be served at 9 a.m.

"Easter Celebration," a cantata featuring full choir and accompaniment, will be presented at the First Baptist Church of Eugene at 6 p.m. on Easter Sunday. Other Easter services include a Good Friday noon service from 12-1 p.m. and an Easter Sunday morning service at 10:30 a.m. The church is located at 868 High St.

St. Mary's Episcopal Parish will have three Easter Sunday services, beginning with a 5:30 a.m. First Vigil of Easter service, followed by a 9 a.m. Family Eucharist service and ending with an 11 a.m. Choral Eucharist service. The parish is located at 166 E 13th St.

"His Fleece was White as Snow," a dramatic presentation by pre-school and grade-school children, is scheduled at the Free Methodist Church of Eugene, on Easter Sunday at 9:30 a.m. The church is located at 1295 W. 18th St.

All services are open to University students.

YOGONUT TREES REAPPEAR

The Yogonut tree, thought to be extinct, has bounced back. And it's full of those special gifts that once made it a legend: Apples, raspberries, raisins, sunflower seeds... even little cups of yogurt.

Once found everywhere, the Yogonut tree dropped out of sight due largely to a public preference for factory food in the 1950's. This trend has reversed itself, however. A campus spokesperson announced that the trees have been brought on to campus for the good of all.

Now it's easy to protect the Yogonut tree. And good tasting too. Because all the natural things from the Yogonut tree are packed into the Yogonut™ bar. Which is packed in stores everywhere.

So enjoy the Yogonut bar. And protect a legend, please.

Remember: Take care of it, and it'll take care of you.
