Tennis tourney pits NW foes against Ducks

Oregon's women's tennis team will have a chance to take on most of its Northwest foes this weekend as the Ducks travel to Seattle for the Washington Invitational.

The two-day tournament will pit the Ducks against three opponents, the University of Washington, the University of Idaho and Western Washington.

Oregon State is also in the field, but will not face the Ducks.

"This (tournament) is a chance for Lindsay Bartlett to go at Washington's best player again," said women's tennis coach Nancy Osborne.

Bartlett, Oregon's number-one seed, is given Oregon's best chance at singles honors.

Rally cancels squad tryouts

Tryouts for the Oregon rally squad have been postponed.

The tryouts, which were scheduled for Saturday, were canceled because of athletic department budget restrictions. A proposal for a scaled-down squad, with fewer people and less money, is under consideration.

Tryouts for the smaller squad will be announced after the budget has been finalized.
