EMU CULTURAL FORUM presents
Peter Sellers in his best role
BEING THERE
BEING THERE is a funny, thought-provoking look at the pervasive influence of TV on our lives. Adapted by Jerzy Kosinski from his novella and directed by Hal Ashby, the film is also a devastating commentary on our search for gurus and instant, simple answers to complex problems. Peter Sellers gives a tour de force performance as Chance, a man with no background or parents, who has spent his entire life gardening and watching TV. When he is thrown unexpectedly into the real world, his naivete and innocence are mistaken for wisdom and profundity by the rich and powerful, who flock to him for guidance and insight. He finally becomes a man of celebrity and influence. The all-star cast includes Shirley MacLaine, Melvyn Douglas and Jack Warden.
