The Institute of International Education announced that they have begun accepting applications for grants for graduate study and or research abroad and for professional training in the creative and performing arts. It is expected that approximately 516 awards for 50 countries will be available for the 1982-83 academic year.

Applicants must be U.S. citizens at the time of application, must hold a bachelor's degree or equivalent by the time the grant begins, and should be proficient in the language of the host country. Except for certain awards, candidates may not hold a Ph.D. at the time of application. Candidates for 1982-83 are ineligible for a grant to a country if they have been doing graduate work or conducting research in that country for six months or more in 1981-82.

Creative and performing artists are not required to have a bachelor's degree, but they must have four years of professional study or equivalent experience. Social work applicants must have at least two years of professional experience after the Master of Social Work degree, candidates in medicine must have an M.D.

Application forms and information forms for University students are available from Fulbright Program adviser Thomas Mills in Room 336 Oregon Hall. Deadline is Oct. 16.
