Goldschmidt to speak at spring graduation

Former Secretary of Transportation Neil Goldschmidt will be the featured speaker at spring commencement ceremonies Sunday, June 14.

Some 3,000 degree candidates will be eligible to participate in the ceremonies at 2:30 p.m. at Hayward Field.

Goldschmidt, who holds a bachelor's degree in political science from the University, served as mayor of Portland from 1972-79 before joining the Carter administration. He is now vice president for international marketing for Blue Ribbon Sports in Beaverton.

Senate mulls semesters

The University Senate will consider a proposed switch to the semester system today at 3:30 p.m. in Room 229 of the law school.

The semester system, planned for fall 1983, would be composed of two 16-week semesters — 15 weeks of instruction and one week of final examinations. Under the plan, the school year would begin in late August and end in the middle of May.

The vacation schedule also would be altered, according to the proposal.

An extra day — the Wednesday before Thanksgiving — would be added to Thanksgiving vacation.

Christmas vacation would occur not later than December 21 — four days before Christmas. Spring semester would start in mid-January with a week-long spring break scheduled in the middle of that semester.

Tentative calendars following these guidelines have been made for 1983-84, 1984-85 and 1985-86. The proposed calendars still meet the necessary requirements for an academic year mandated by the State Board of Higher Education.

The proposed plan makes provisions for transfer students and for revision of courses.

Faculty salaries will remain unchanged under the system.
