

Twelve advance at nationals

Twelve Oregon women advanced to the semi-finals or finals in their events at the AIAW national track meet in Austin, Texas.

Despite the sweltering heat, Oregon came through with a series of outstanding performances, said Oregon coach Tom Heinonen.

One of the most spectacular of those came from sophomore Sally Harmon in the javelin. Harmon had the best throw in Thursday's qualifying round, a 172-5 toss that broke her personal best of 169-10, set while a senior at Springfield High School.

Harmon was ninth in last year's AIAW meet, held at Hayward Field.

As expected, Leann Warren easily won her qualifying heats in the 800 and 1,500 meters with the top marks of the day. Warren, the world leader in the mile this season, clocked a 4:22.7 to advance the finals in the 1,500.

In the 800, Warren ran 2:07.61 to qualify for the semis. The Duck sophomore was runnerup in last year's AIAW 800 and is the U.S. leader in the event this season.

Ranza Clark also qualified for the semis in the 800 with a 2:10.29.

In the 100 hurdles, Lexie Miller (13.72) and Kris Costello (13.76) advanced to the semis. Miller also gained the semis in the 400 hurdles with a 60.22 clocking.

Grace Bakari ran 53.98 for second in her 400 heat. Bakari was sixth at last year's nationals. Melanie Batiste advanced to the 200 semis with a wind-aided 23.66, her best time this season.

Oregon's mile relay team, the defending national champion, qualified for the finals, finishing second in their heat to Tennessee.

On the field, Karen McDonald threw 162-11 in the discus to qualify for Saturday's finals. But Oregon's Quenna Beasley came one-inch short from a berth in the discus finals, finishing 13th.

"It was a really good day for us," said Heinonen. "We advanced a lot of people and got a lot of top performances. We're in good shape."

Competition will continue today and Saturday.

Golfers slip at tournament, BYU leads

Oregon's men's golf team slipped to 28th place Thursday at the NCAA national championships, shooting 301 for a 610 total at the Stanford University course.

Brigham Young moved into first place ahead of Texas A&M and yesterday's leader, Oral Roberts, with a six-under-par 574. Texas A&M is second at 579, while Oral Roberts is tied for third with the University of Houston with 580.

Arizona State University retained its hold on the top five spots with a 581 two-day total.

Leading the tournament is Rich Dalpos of Purdue with a four-under-par 69-69-138. He is followed by Utah State's JayDon Blake, 70-69-139.

Oregon's golfers played better today, said coach Jim Ferguson. "But so did everybody else."

Shell Joyner, a freshman, continues to lead the Duck squad, 75-72-147. Following him are Scott Krieger (77-75-152), Dave DeLong (80-75-155), Steve Bowen (78-79-157) and Eric Johnson (79-80-159).

Play will continue today.

To find authentic barbeque ribs, you can drive to San Francisco.

Or go to Perry's on Pearl.

San Francisco has some famous downtown saloons. They are elegant, yet comfortable, too. A couple like the "Firehouse" and the "Smokepit" are renowned for barbeque ribs.

Not the kind found in a fast food outlet. But the kind of ribs calling for a generations-old southern recipe.

Add all this up and you have the very inspiration for Perry's on Pearl.

Perry's ribs are extra-large beef short ribs, not bare bones. They, along with barbeque pork back ribs and Oregon grown chicken, are hickory-smoked and basted with a spicy Western-style barbeque sauce during the cooking process.

Your first bite will signal your taste buds that this is "Hog Heaven". And you will be ready for more.

Each order comes with baked beans, creamy cole slaw and homemade combread.

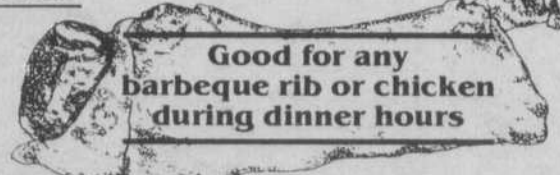

So the next time you or your family want a dinner of authentic barbeque ribs, you have two choices. Drive to San Francisco. Or go to Perry's on Pearl... the best place north of the Golden Gate serving authentic barbeque ribs.
