Half-price tickets go on sale soon

By ANN PORTAL

A limited number of student athletic tickets go on sale Thursday and Friday, and athletic officials say it's best to buy early.

Although tickets no longer are free, as they were last year, all are half the general admission price, and packages can be purchased that make tickets even more economical.

A $12.50 fall sports package includes tickets to five varsity football games — which cost $2.50 individually — plus a pass to volleyball games.

The $38.50 winter sports package includes tickets to 16 varsity basketball games (15 scheduled games plus the intersquad scrimmage), plus a pass to wrestling, gymnastics and women's basketball.

By purchasing both packages at once ($51), the student receives a free $7.50 spring sports package good for five varsity track and field meets. Individual track and field tickets sell for $1.50.

For students who purchase individual tickets and later decide to buy a package, the price of the individual tickets will be subtracted from the package price, according to Jim Edmunson, ASUO vice president in charge of program administration.

Similarly, students who purchase fall or winter packages separately still qualify for the combination package when the other ticket package is purchased, he says. Play-off games and special events are not included in the student ticket package.

As long as the supply lasts, tickets also will be sold at the door (or gate), but because of seating limitations, only 6,000 football and 4,000 basketball tickets are available, Edmunson says.

Although there should be plenty of football tickets for students who want them, there may be a shortage of basketball tickets, he says.

"You gotta think ahead a little bit."

ASUO officers say they are hoping students purchase at least $222,500 worth of tickets — the amount the incidental fee subsidy to the athletic department declined this year.

Because the ASUO is depending more on ticket sales, students will pay only $12 per term in incidental fees to the athletic department — instead of the $17 paid per
