

The rush is on

Hundreds of sorority hopefuls donned their best duds and made the rounds of the 11 sororities participating in rush last week, competing for a limited number of openings in the popular Greek houses. The women, who lived in University residence halls during the week, attended three days of parties at all the houses before narrowing their preference to three. After a long Friday night of comparing which girls wanted what houses, and vice versa, the women were roused early Saturday morning for the results of the hectic activities.
