'Bent' focuses on survival cost

The cost of survival and the sustaining force of human affection are the driving forces in "Bent" by Martin Sherman, the first play of University Theatre's 1981-82 season which opens Oct. 16 at the Robinson Theatre in Villard Hall. Set in Nazi Germany, the play begins on July 1, 1934, the morning after Hitler's "Night of the Long Knives" — the purging of homosexuals in the Third Reich. Tickets for individual performances are $4.50 for the general public, $2.75 for University students.

Music school offers variety of concerts

The opening concerts of the 1981-82 Faculty Artist Series and the Chamber Music Series will highlight the coming week at the music school. All events are free unless otherwise noted. This week's activities include:

- Oct. 10 — The Oregon Wind Ensemble will perform a special concert at 4 p.m. in Beall Concert Hall in honor of the inauguration of University Pres. Paul Olum. Tickets to the free event are available from the Office of Community Services in Room 111 Susan Campbell Hall.

- Also on Saturday, soprano Kathleen Lacey and pianist Ruth Breidenthal will perform a program of art songs, including pieces by Richard Strauss, Samuel Barber and Henri Duparc, at 8 p.m. in Room 198.

- Oct. 11 — "An Evening of Americana" introduces this year's Faculty Artist Series. The Faculty String Quartet will play a piece by Walter Piston, and the Oregon Woodwind Quintet will perform a concerto by William Bergman. University music professors will perform works by Leonard Bernstein, Monte Tubb, Rudy Wiedolft, R. Nathaniel Dett, George Gershwin, Aaron Copeland and others. The free concert will begin at 8 p.m. in Beall Concert Hall.

- Oct. 14 — University music professors Charles Dowd and Edward Kammerer will present an evening of contemporary jazz in the second concert of the Faculty Artist Series.

Dowd will perform on vibraphone and marimbas and Kammerer will perform on acoustic and electric pianos at 8 p.m. in Room 198. Admission is by season ticket or $2 at the door. Senior citizens, students with proper identification and children under 12 will be admitted free. Season tickets for the remaining 20 performances of the series are available for $20.

- Oct. 15 — New music students will present a Musical Smorgasbord concert at 12:30 p.m. in Room 198. Julia Mansfield, violin, will play a sonata by Francisco Maria Veracini; Amy Sewall, voice, will perform works by Gioacchino Rossini and Claude Debussy; Alex Larsen, flute, will play a concerto by Mozart; and Brenda Booth, saxophone, will perform a concerto by Alexander Glazounov.

A SEARCH course on our relationship to a world in rapid and profound transformation.

Do people around the world see the USA as the Beacon of "freedom" and "human rights" or as the source of domination, exploitation and misery? This class will examine how the USA was built on the genocide of Native Americans, the enslavement of Africa and subjugation of other peoples—and the movements by these peoples to regain independence. We'll look at how North American people have responded and examine the origins and significance of racism, alienation and fear and how we can change this. In addition to understanding this from a theoretical and historical angle, we'll also talk about how it affects our own lives. The class will combine a film and speaker series with readings, projects, discussion and a practical approach towards solutions.

Instructors: Kathie Knowles and Devin Hess.
Tues. & Thurs. 7-9 p.m. Rm. 244 Gilbert
Course includes Tues. night film series, speakers and community projects.
