Two extension programs approved by state board

By ANN PORTAL
Of the Emerald

The State Board of Higher Education gave preliminary approval Friday to proposals for off-campus degree programs in Salem and Bend.

Oregon State University will offer the Bend off-campus degree program, with Western Oregon State College offering the Salem program in cooperation with Willamette University and Chemeketa Community College.

Final approval of the proposals is expected in December, after review by the Oregon Educational Coordinating Commission.

The board, which originally rejected the Bend proposal at a March meeting, was concerned the Legislature would consider the new program expansionary in a time of budgetary problems.

However, the programs are expected to be self-supporting. They will be financed entirely through tuition paid by the off-campus students and current teaching staffs will take on the additional courses.

Board President Ed Harms had voted against the program in March but supported the proposals Friday.

"Some of us were concerned with the impression this would present to the Legislature with respect to duplication of programs," he said.

However, a genuine need has been shown for the upper-division courses, which will allow students who completed lower-division requirements at community colleges to finish their degrees. WOSC and OSU representatives testified.

The Bend program will offer a bachelor's degree in liberal studies through Central Oregon Community College. The WOSC program will lead to a bachelor's degree in interdisciplinary studies.

Retired executive goes back to school

Business students will have a chance to talk with a retired business executive and gain first-hand knowledge about corporate functions when William Hood visits the University Oct. 28-30.

Hood, Chapman College School of Business and Management dean, is the University business school's first "Executive-in-Residence" for 1981-82. He will talk with students and faculty on an informal basis and in business classes.

Hood was formerly president and chief executive officer with Hunt-Wesson Foods, Inc. He is also chairman of the board of Pioneer National Bank in Fullerton, Calif.

Besides his college and bank positions, Hood is also on the board of directors of Technology Marketing Incorporated, a computer design and development company; Family Health Plan, a health maintenance organization; and Executive magazine.

Hood will also have office hours to meet with students in 171 Gilbert Hall. He will be available from 1-2 p.m. on Thursday and 10:30-11:30 a.m. on Friday.

Parents set to meet Olum

Approximately 500 parents of University students from throughout the Northwest are expected to attend the third annual Parents' Weekend scheduled Friday and Saturday.

Activities begin at 7:30 p.m. Friday when the Parents' Association, the weekend's sponsor, hosts a wine and cheese reception in the Gerlinger Alumni Lounge.

Athletic Director Rick Bay and Rich Brooks, head football coach, will be among the special guests.

Registration begins at 9 a.m. Saturday in the EMU second-floor lobby. The Parents' Association will hold its annual meeting at 9:30 a.m. in the EMU Dads' Room, followed by a meeting with University faculty members at 10 a.m. in the EMU Ballroom.

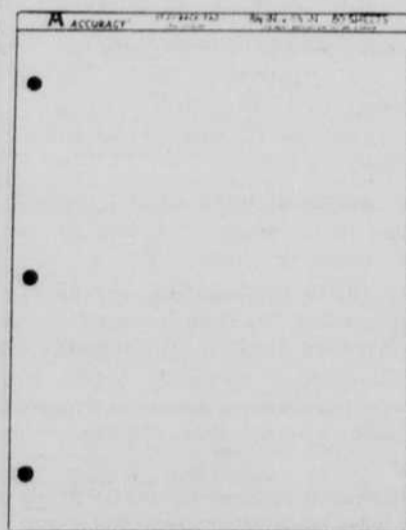

A no-host buffet luncheon at the EMU is set for 11:15 a.m. Parents and students will have an opportunity to meet with University Pres. Paul Olum before attending the football game at Autzen Stadium. Kick-off time for the Oregon vs. UCLA game is 1 p.m.

A Halloween celebration at 8 p.m. Saturday in the EMU Ballroom will complete the weekend activities. Refreshments, dancing and prizes for the best costumes will highlight the evening.
