Never-say-die Dodgers wrap up series with 9-2 win

NEW YORK (AP) — Pedro Guerrero drove in five runs with a home run, a triple and a single as Los Angeles defeated the New York Yankees 9-2 in Game 6 Wednesday night, giving the never-say-die Dodgers their fifth World Series title.

They won it in four straight games, dropping the first two in Yankee Stadium before winning three at home and the final game in New York.

In keeping with what they had done in the first two stages of the 1981 postseason, the Dodgers scratched and clawed their way to their first world title in 16 years and their first over the Yankees since 1963.

The 1981 World Series was one of tradition and contrasts. The two teams have met in World Series competition more often than any two — 11 times. Yet, the final Dodger victory culminated a baseball campaign that could not have broken further with tradition.

After a season shortened and torn in half by baseball's first midseason strike, and following a playoff format that included unprecedented divisional showdowns, the Series produced its special memories.

The most memorable may turn out to be the decision to pinch-hit for Yankee starter Tommy John in the New York fourth with the score tied 1-1. The Dodgers promptly jumped on reliever George Frazier for three runs in the fifth and Los Angeles went on to score four more in the sixth.

Ron Cey, who was beaned in Game 5, drove in the go-ahead run in the fifth inning with a single and Guerrero pounded home two more with a triple to the wall in the deepest part of the stadium, about 430 feet from home plate.

Cey left the game for a pinch hitter in the next inning, suffering from the effects of the beanball. He had been hit on the

Dave Lopes led off the fifth with a ground single between third baseman Graig Nettles, also playing despite an injury, and shortstop Larry Milbourne. Bill Russell sacrificed Lopes to second and, one out later, Cey strode to the plate.

"The Penguin" hit a bouncer up the middle that eluded second baseman Willie Randolph and the Dodgers led 2-1. A bloop single over the middle by Dusty Baker sent Cey to third and Guerrero hit the first pitch from reliever George Frazier for his two-run triple.

The Dodgers ended all doubts that New York's tumultuous season was over in the four-run sixth, sending 10 men to the plate.

The inning made a loser of Frazier for the third time in the Series, breaking a World Series mark for six and seven-game Series. Jon Matlack of the New York Mets in 1973 lost twice in a seven-game Series, and Dan Quisenberry of the Kansas City Royals lost a pair in 1980.

The only pitcher ever to lose three games in one World Series was Claude Williams of the Chicago White Sox in 1919, the year of the Black Sox scandal, but that was in eight games.
