

Swedes seize sub in territorial limit

STOCKHOLM, Sweden (AP) — Swedish salvage vessels prepared Thursday to refloat a grounded Soviet submarine after sub-hunting helicopters chased away an unidentified submarine and a Soviet tug cruising in the restricted military zone, authorities said.

They said Moscow had agreed to let Swedish ships salvage the diesel-powered Whiskey-class submarine that ran aground in Swedish waters Tuesday night off the southeast coast near the Karlskrona naval base.

Swedish Prime Minister Thorbjorn Falldin made clear that the sub would be returned to the Soviet Union, but "how and when will depend on the outcome of an investigation we have ordered conducted by the commander in chief."

The unidentified sub was first spotted about six miles inside the 12-mile territorial limit, then vanished after being pursued by helicopters armed with depth charges, officials said.

A Soviet salvage tug was warded off by Swedish naval vessels after it briefly violated Sweden's territorial waters.

Lagerwall said Swedish helicopters, torpedo boats and coast guard craft were watching the sub and the Warsaw Pact flotilla.

Capt. Kar Gunnar Andersson boarded the vessel Wednesday night and was later quoted by the newspaper Svenska Dagbladet that the Soviet captain claimed the submarine ran aground because of "navigational error due to a faulty gyro compass and bad weather."

OPEC sets first price cut

GENEVA, Switzerland (AP) — OPEC fixed a new unified base oil price of $34 a barrel Thursday and froze it through the end of next year. Analysts said the deal would add about 2½ cents a gallon to the price Americans pay for gasoline and home heating fuel.

But the world oil cartel also fixed a new price ceiling of $38 in the first official price cut in the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries' 21-year history. The previous ceiling was $41.

Saudi Arabia, which produces about half of OPEC's oil, will cut its output from about 9.5 million barrels a day, Sheikh Ahmed Zaki Yamani, the country's oil minister, told reporters.

He said Saudi production "will be less" but did not say how much.

The deal establishes a unified price structure for OPEC for the first time in more than two years, and under the terms, the Saudis will raise their price, now $32 a barrel, while other cartel members lower theirs. The new prices are to take effect Sunday.

America consumes about 16 million barrels of oil daily. Some 4.5 million barrels are imported, and of this, Saudi Arabia supplies 800,000, latest figures show.

Kuwaiti oil minister Ali Khalifa Al-Sabah, referring to the price freeze, said, "For all of us, the consumers and the producers, it gives us a stable price for at least the next 13-14 months."

The freeze, if maintained through 1982, would amount to a relative price cut because worldwide inflation is forecast to continue.

Juggling

Dewart's class, none of them will probably ever match the ten-ball greatness of Rastelli.

But that doesn't matter, because each juggler is working to perfect his own style, Dewart says.

Some jugglers strive for greater volume and technical virtuosity. They master five balls and immediately move on to six. Other jugglers, though, add variety to their routines by adding props or by juggling weird or dangerous objects.

Jugglers have been known to bobble everything from ping-pong balls to bowling balls, from hatchets to machetes.

Chances are that you won't see hatchets or sickles flying around the room at the LCC Downtown Center, but if you stop by a class you may see enough airborne objects to permanently engage your interest. And if you want to join in, all you have to do is get the rhythm.

So . . . One. Two . . .
