

Send in plays now

It's very simple: Just dream up a football play and diagram it out — using the X's and O's. Include a title for your original creation and an explanation. Bring your entries up to the Emerald offices on the third floor of the EMU and give them to the receptionist. Be sure to include your name and phone number on your play.

The contest closes Friday, Nov. 13 at 5 p.m. The best entries — 6 to 9 of them — will be featured in a special sports section on Nov. 20, the day prior to the Civil War battle with Oregon State.

make the difference between a good return and a bad one.

At 5-10, 160, Choo Choo has the added challenge of being a small man in a big man's world. "I like to think of myself as tough, you know, so I like to go out there," he says. "I wish I was a little bigger, but it's not something I think about a lot."

"In a way I think it's an advantage being small," says Young, "because a smaller man is usually quicker and more elusive. But if you get hit solidly, you will go down."

Young also likes to think of himself as courageous, but he isn't the only one who sees it that way. "Choo Choo Young is one of the most courageous players on the team," says Brown. "He is smaller, but he is doing probably the hardest job on the field (returning punts)."

"On kickoff returns you have more time to react to the people coming at you," says Brown, adding that on punts you often don't have that kind of time. "It takes a different kind of person to return punts."

For Brown, returning kickoffs gives him a chance to participate in a different aspect of the game. "I always wanted to carry the football," he says, "and kickoff returns give me that opportunity."

"I like the excitement of playing on the other side of the ball, and the possibility of scoring a touchdown," Brown says. "The pluses heavily outweigh the minuses. As long as I can return kicks, I'll be happy."

A defensive back when not returning kicks, Brown sees his duty on special teams as another way to get into the action. "I like the excitement of playing on the other side of the line and the possibility of scoring a touchdown."

Shula goes for 200th win

Miami plays at New England Sunday

MIAMI (AP) — This Sunday could be another landmark in Don Shula's career, but the Miami Dolphins coach is more concerned about the effect a victory over New England could have on his club's 1981 championship drive.

The Dolphins' 27-10 victory over Baltimore last Sunday gave Shula a 199-80-6 record since he began his National Football League coaching career at Baltimore, at age 33, in 1963.

Only George Halas, Curly Lambeau and Tom Landry have won 200 professional games.

Shula, whose young team leads the AFC East with a 6-2-1 record, said victory No. 7 of 1981 will be more important Sunday.

"Right now, the important thing is us winning our seventh game. Someday, when you have time to cherish all your accomplishments, it's something I'll be proud of," Shula said.

"I have the ball that was given to me after the 100th (Oct. 15, 1972). It's at home. But it doesn't help me win Sunday," he added.

The Dolphins have lost in Massachusetts the last five years in a row.

"This is the year we want to change a lot of things around," Shula said. "This is another important test for us to determine whether or not we're playoff-bound."

However, Shula did some reminiscing in an interview this week with the Miami News.

His first victory was 20-14 over San Francisco on Sept. 22, 1963. Raymond Berry was injured that game, and Shula's Colts went on to an 8-6 finish.

"I remember a young head coach who wanted to do well and a great receiver going down," Shula said. "Actually, we had the game won a week earlier in my coaching debut against the New York Giants. We were picked apart by a quarterback named Y.A. Tittle and a back named Alex Webster."

Shula said the early victories aren't any more meaningful than some of his recent ones.

Yellow defeats green as Smith pumps in 29

HARRISBURG — The Yellow squad, led by Bev Smith's 29-point effort, defeated a taller Green team 84-54 in the first women's basketball intra-squad game at Harrisburg High School Wednesday night.

A bona-fide all-America candidate, Smith hit on 10 of 15 from the field, grabbed 10 rebounds and was perfect in nine tries from the free throw line. She was backed up by Chris Metzger with 16 points, Penny Gienger's 15 and 10 from Janet Harris.

Returning center Alison Lang pumped in 22 points for the Green squad and blocked three shots. Helen Higgs added 12.

The more experienced Yellow squad stole the ball from the Green 23 times as they assumed a 44-29 halftime bulge, and breezed to the win.

The women will hold another scrimmage Thursday, Nov. 12 at 7:30 p.m. in Mac Court. Admission is free.
