Math prof awarded

The National Council of Teachers of Mathematics has recognized Oscar Schaaf, University education professor, for his many years of service and leadership in mathematics education.

In his honor, Schaaf's name has been engraved on a permanent plaque at the council's headquarters in Reston, Va.

He is the sole Oregonian among the some 20 mathematicians nationwide whose contributions to the field have been thus recognized.

Schaaf, who joined the University College of Education faculty in 1954, is the senior faculty member in years of service. Currently, he juggles his time between a University adjunct professorship and a position with the Lane Education Service District where he works on the nationally known Lane County Mathematics Problem-Solving Project.
