Haitian government reports invasion

PORT DE PAIX, Haiti

The government reported Tuesday that about 40 more invaders had landed on Tortuga Island, but did not say whether troops had engaged them. Officials said they routed eight men who flew to Tortuga last weekend to spark a revolution against Pres.-for-Life Jean-Claude Duvalier.

Lherison Alezi, the government's regional information director, said a large boat landed on the desolate offshore island after stopping at two points on Haiti's northern coast. He said he did not know whether anyone went ashore during the earlier stops.

The invaders presumably are followers of Bernard Sansaricq, a Florida service station operator who mustered 36 supporters last week in Britain's Turks and Caicos Islands, at the end of the Bahama chain and about 100 miles north of Haiti.

He stayed in the Turks and Caicos while two planes, each reportedly carrying four of his supporters, landed on Tortuga Saturday and Sunday. Alezi said that in response to a radio call, two coast guard boats brought in enough soldiers and militiamen to put down the attack and capture three of the invaders.

Haig visits Egypt to revive talks

CAIRO, Egypt

Secretary of State Alexander Haig arrived here Tuesday in an apparent effort to revive the flagging talks on autonomy for Palestinians in Israeli-occupied lands.

"Primary to our objectives during this visit will be the (Israeli-Egyptian) peace process itself," Haig said upon his arrival on a flight from Brussels, Belgium.

It is Haig's first visit to Egypt since he attended funeral services for the late Pres. Anwar Sadat last October.

The Reagan administration has been successful in establishing close relations with the government of Hosni Mubarak, Sadat's successor. Haig was scheduled to meet with Mubarak on Wednesday, a day before the secretary of state departs for Israel.

Autonomy for the 1.3 million Palestinians living on the occupied West Bank of the Jordan River and the Gaza Strip is the last remaining issue to be resolved under the U.S.-sponsored Camp David accords signed by Egypt and Israel in March 1979.

Poles plan end to martial law

WARSAW, Poland

Polish authorities said Tuesday they would like to end martial law by Feb. 1 and include Solidarity leader Lech Walesa in talks on the future of trade unions.

At the same time, the official media criticized farmers for withholding food from market, and said the Soviet Union would be Poland's "sole source of import supplies" in many areas of the beleaguered economy.

Deputy Prime Minister Jerzy Ozdowski said at a news conference for Western reporters that Poland's authorities "would like to end" martial law by Feb. 1.

However, Ozdowski said there was no timetable for ending the state of emergency declared Dec. 13, and a decision on lifting military rule "depends on the situation."

After an initial period in which Gdansk dock workers and Silesian miners clashed with security forces, official announcements claim that workers have returned to their jobs. But there have been unofficial reports of passive resistance in factories and mines.
