GOP committee members seek revenue plan details

SALEM (AP)— Republican legislators are trying to smoke out details of what Democratic majority leaders have in mind for budget-balancing revenue increases, but they didn't have any luck Wednesday.

A GOP member of the House Revenue Committee said he wasn't inclined to act on any of Gov. Vic Atiyeh's revenue measures until Democrats disclose what additional money-raising items they will propose.

Rep. Larry Campbell of Eugene said Senate President Fred Heard and House Speaker Hardy Myers, both democrats, favor smaller spending cuts than recommended by Atiyeh but aren't saying how they would raise new revenue to balance the budget.

"I want the leaders to come before this committee and drop the other shoe," Campbell said.

Committee chairman Bill Grannell, D-North Bend, said later that Heard and Myers would appear before the committees when they get some firm figures from the Joint Ways & Means Committee, which is working on Atiyeh's proposed $147 million in spending cuts.

Grannell said the leaders might have specific proposals as early as Friday.

The Legislature convenes in special session Monday to balance the budget in the face of a $237 million projected deficit.

Democratic leaders have asked Ways & Means members to draft budget cuts averaging five percent, about half the decrease sought by Atiyeh.

To balance the budget with the smaller spending cuts, the lawmakers would have to come up with about $50 million in new money in addition to the $100 million in revenue boosts proposed by Atiyeh.

Top lawmakers say they see little chance of majority support for tax increases and that reducing property tax relief probably is the only alternative for generating added revenue.
