SUFI CIRCLE PRESENTS
WOMEN IN LOVE

Two sister, sexually mature and intellectually active, struggle against the confines of a rural English mining town and its rigidly classed layers of society. Around them, D.H. Lawrence created one of his best studies of sexual uneasiness and doubt. This film explodes with the subtle frustrations, warped joys, and bitter passions found throughout Lawrence's work.

BOGART AND BACALL TO HAVE AND HAVE NOT

Loosely based on Ernest Hemingway's short story, Bogart plays an American charter boat captain in Martinique who get involved with the Nazis. With William Faulkner's screenplay, the scenes between Bogart and Lauren Bacal are especially memorable. "You know how to whistle don't you?" Walter Brennan is superbly cast as the drunken Eddie; Hoagy Carmichael plays Crickett the piano player.

AN AMERICAN
WEREWOLF IN LONDON

This zany spoof of old werewolf movies is a successful mixture of macabre, off-beat humor and nightmarish horror. Directed by John Landis (Animal House, The Blues Brothers), this surrealistic tale revolves around two American students, Jack and David, who are bumming around Europe. While on the moors of North England, a werewolf attacks them, killing Jack and badly mauling David. Jack doesn't stay dead, though, and he visits David to try to persuade him to kill himself for the sake of the "undead" murdered by werewolves in the past.

THE GREAT SANTINI

The Great Santini makes a nice bracket to last year's "Ordinary People." Here, the struggle is between father and son, between marine sergeant Robert Duvall and sensitive Michael O'Keefe, who resists his father's attempts to run the family like boot camp. Blythe Danner play wife to the fiercely proud Duvall and mother to the outranked-but-determined son.
