

If your sign is Pisces' haircut $7.00

Hair Faire
1410 Orchard, Rm. 207

342-2165

IN AFRICAN SOCIETY THE ROLE of the DRUM

EMU BALLROOM
Date: February 19, 1982
Time: 8:00 pm
Admission: Free

Visual and Slide Presentation
The Study of Drum & Dance in a West African Society
presented by Bruce Smith & Ruby Burns
Sponsored By Lane Community College Black Student Union
University of Oregon Black Student Union

Ducks face Huskies

Washington State follows in weekend road trip

Donald Coulter
Of the Emerald

Walker's gone, Haney will be back, and Adams is able to play this weekend.

Those are the off-the-court developments to come out of the Oregon men's basketball camp this week, a drama which has rivaled General Hospital at times.

Despite the controversy surrounding his basketball program, head coach Jim Haney hopes the Ducks will be able to break their six-game losing streak when they travel to the state of Washington for a pair of weekend games.

"It was a productive week on the practice floor," Haney said Thursday. "The enthusiasm and the execution in practice have really picked up this week."

Six days ago, Oregon suffered the most lopsided defeat in its history as Oregon State thrashed the Ducks, 94-51. After the game, Barry Walker made his now-infamous comments to the press about Haney, and was subsequently dropped from the team by the coach Monday.

Haney, already under heavy public criticism following the OSU loss and the losing streak, suffered even more flack because of the Walker decision.

But University athletic director Rick Bay put an end to questions of Haney's future as head coach when he gave the fourth-year coach a vote of confidence the next day.

"I don't know if we'll sell one season ticket next year, but Jim Haney will be our coach," Bay stated publicly.

So with that question out of the way, it is back to the task of playing basketball for the Ducks. And they'll be doing it with the help of freshman center Jerry Adams, who just a few days ago was talking like he might sit out the rest of the season because of a knee injury.

"I'll play this weekend and we'll see what will happen after that," Adams said yesterday. "I practiced on it (the knee) today and it felt good."

The Ducks (3-9 in the Pac-10, 8-13 overall) play at Washington Saturday night before traveling to Washington State for a Monday night game. Washington is in second place in the conference with an 11-3 record (following Thursday's 55-44 loss to Oregon State), while the Cougars are in fifth at 8-5.

Washington State was the last team the Ducks beat, 60-56, in a game at Mac Court four weeks ago. Ironically, it was Walker who won that game for the Ducks with a crucial last-minute steal.

Women testify in WSU lawsuit

COLFAX, Wash. (AP) — Conditions for women athletes at Washington State University are not objectionable, say five athletes and coaches.

"If the area you change your underwear in is important in whether you win or lose, then we're all in trouble," said Anthony Tenisci, assistant women's track coach at WSU.

Inadequate facilities is one of the complaints of the women's coaches and athletes who filed the sex discrimination suit against WSU, now in its seventh week in Whitman County Superior Court.

Tenisci, basketball player Karen Brown, track member Cheryl Byers, volleyball player Nancy Lust and women's head track coach Kelli Koltyn all testified Wednesday that they had no problem with salaries, scholarship, equipment, travel or opportunities provided women's coaches and athletes.

Byers said she believes there are valid reasons to put more money into men's basketball and football since those sports earn a profit.

WILDERNESS QUARTER

Backcountry Field Studies
April 10 - June 7; 15 Units

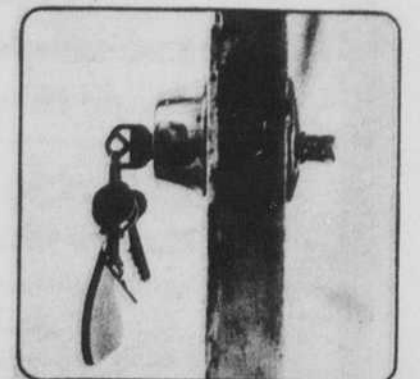

Sierra Natural History
Wilderness Instructor School
Wilderness Photography
Desert Canyons of the Southwest
Kauai "Backcountry Hawaii"
Wilderness Studies, Carriage House

UNIVERSITY OF CALIFORNIA

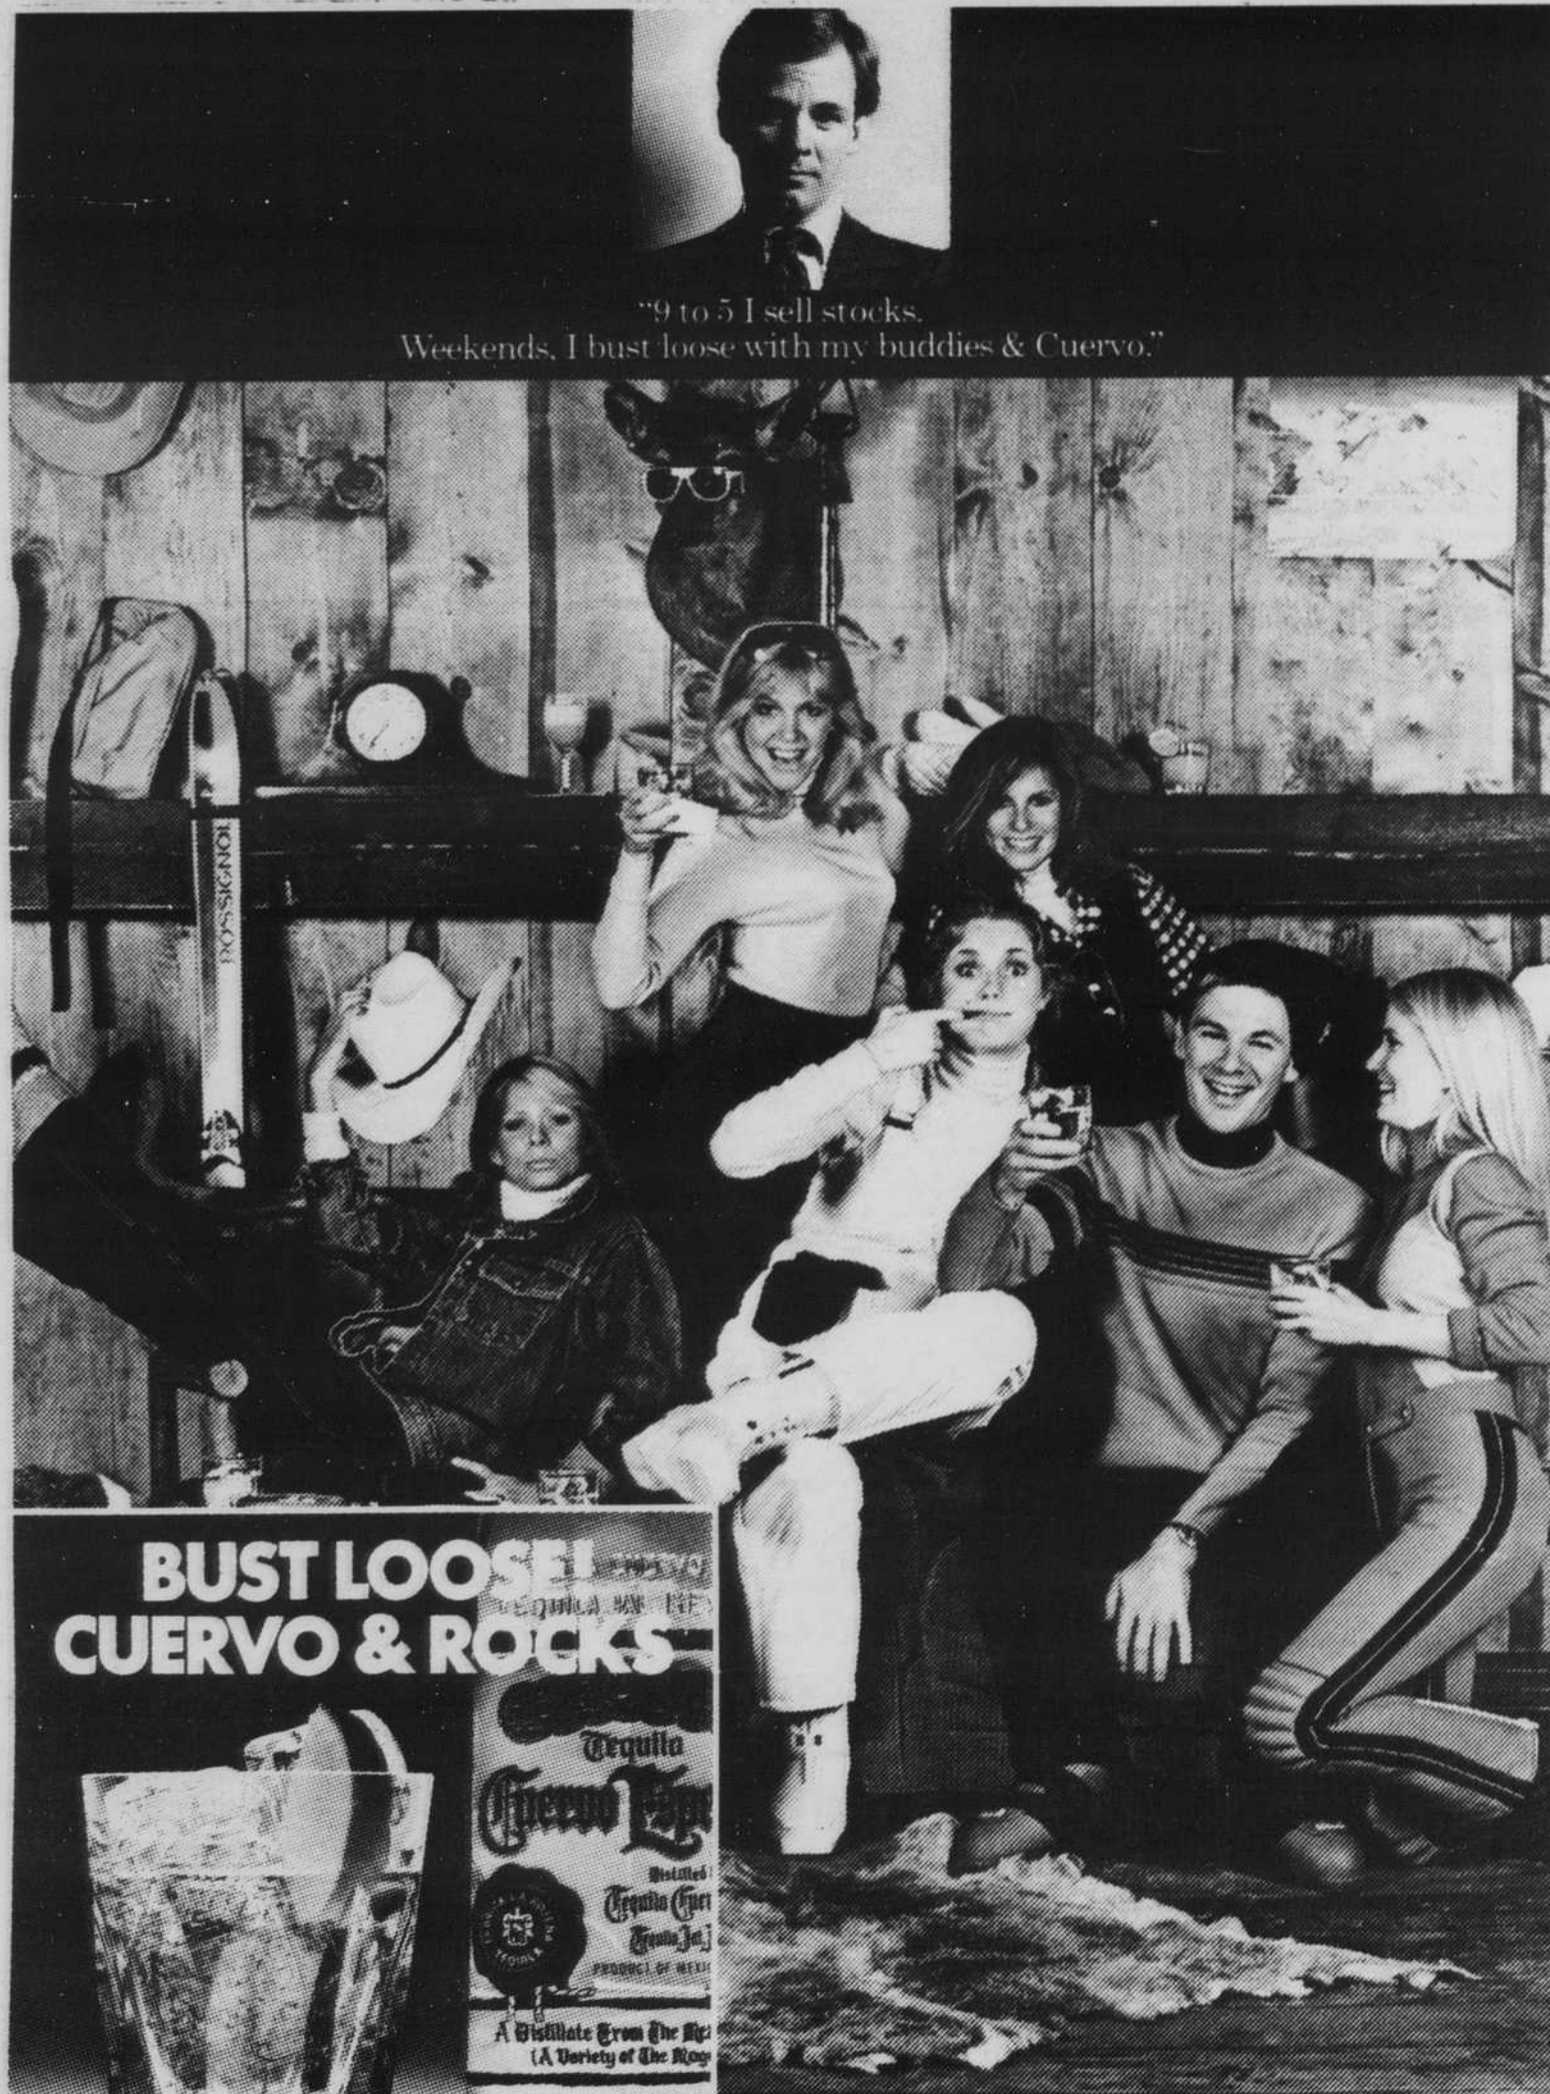

Santa Cruz, CA 95064
(408) 429-2761

Protect Your Valuables!

The West University Neighbors
1456 Ferry St. • Eugene, Ore. 97401 • 687-5366

BUST LOOSE! CUERVO & ROCKS

CUERVO ESPECIAL • TEQUILA • 80 PROOF. IMPORTED AND BOTTLED BY © 1981 HEUBLEIN, INC., HARTFORD, CONN.