

Bruins ruin, Troy toys with Ducks

Ducks conclude year versus Arizona clubs

UCLA guard "Rocket" Rod Foster scored 35 points — 13 from the foul line — as the Bruins handed the Oregon basketball team its second loss in 17 hours and its 16th loss in 25 games, running past the Ducks 88-66 in the final minutes Saturday afternoon.

Oregon tried its hardest to stay in the game — exhibiting an inspired, if not always coordinated defensive effort — but was never able to whittle the lead down further than five points in the second half.

Jerome Williams slammed a rebound home with 6:20 remaining in the game to bring the Ducks within five, 66-61, but the Oregon junior grasped the rim and was charged with a technical foul. Foster made the charity toss, UCLA went into a spread offense that utilized Foster's speed, and scored 22 of the game's last 27 points.

The loss was the second in as many nights for the Ducks, who bowed to USC Friday night 80-68.

Oregon fans, too, had an active part in both contests. When the Ducks were leading or rallying, the scoreboard was shaking — Mac Court was rocking. But in the end, frustrated Duck supporters could only sing "bye, bye Haney" or hold up placards calling for the Oregon coach to be fired.

Some Oregon supporters recently have called for Haney's dismissal because his team has failed to come up with a winning year in his four years as coach.

There wasn't much the Duck mentor could have done to stop the hot shooting of Foster on Saturday though.

The junior guard started as a freshman on the 1980 NCAA runner-up team, but has received less playing time this year because of outstanding play of Michael Holton and Ralph Jackson. Foster got the starting nod Saturday, played 32 minutes and scored 35 points.

Oregon jumped out to a 4-0 lead thanks to two long-range jumpers by Gary Gatewood. But three buckets by all-American candidate Mike Sanders, a technical foul on the Oregon bench (when Haney walked onto the court during play to protest an official's non-call) and a score by Kenny fields launched the Bruins into a 10-4 lead they never relinquished.

Oregon drew to within two, 12-10, and stayed close through the middle of the first half. But a 14-8 spurt by UCLA, capped off by a tip in by freshman center Stuart Gray with eight seconds left, put the Bruins up 47-35 at the half.

Oregon scored the first three points of the second half, but UCLA quickly rebuilt their lead, which hovered around 15 points for the first five minutes of the half. The Ducks whittled the lead down on several occasions in the second half, only to have UCLA again take control.

Oregon made one last attempt at removing the Bruins from the lead. Scores by senior captain John Greig, David Brantley and Williams got the Ducks close just before UCLA outscored Oregon 22-5 to close out the game.

Oregon shot a credible 54 percent from the field (64 percent in the first half), but it wasn't nearly enough to combat UCLA's 37 of 58 from the field and 14 of 19 from the free-throw line.
