The Oregon women's track team will bring a 1-1 dual record into its dual meet with Washington State Saturday after a 70-66 loss to Tennessee and a 90-46 win over Stanford during the break.

Top Oregon performances in the double-dual meet at Stanford included Leann Warren's double-win in the 1500 (4:20.0) and 800 (2:05.5); Eryn Forbes' 5,000 win (16:09.2); a one-two finish in the javelin (Sally Harmon at 169-3 and transfer Roz Rouse at 162-7); Grace Bakari's victory in the 400 (54.05); and a lifetime best of 9:23.0 in Kathy Hayes' third-place 3,000 finish.

In the non-scoring Golden Bear Meet of Champions March 27 in Berkeley, Calif., Warren set a school record of 9:15.3 to with the 3,000.

Against Tennessee, the 1981 national collegiate champion, the Ducks weren't particularly sharp, but held on to make it close before being edged out, 70-66.

The Oregon softball team opens its 1982 season at the Southern Oregon Invitational in Ashland Friday and Saturday.

The Ducks, 9-19 last year, have a new head coach, Charles Sylvester, and a stronger pitching squad over last year's group. Stephanie Heisler, who missed the '81 campaign because of injury, will make her debut for the Ducks on the mound.

The Oregon men's track team won a four-way meet with Fresno State, UC-Santa Barbara, and Southern Oregon State College. Oregon outscored second place Fresno State 233-220 by winning 15 of the meet's 19 events.

Junior weightman Dean Crouser led the Oregon assault with a personal record of 66-7 in the shot put.

The Ducks are using this week to prepare for the defending national dual-meet champion Washington State Cougars, who come to Hayward Field for a Saturday meet.

The Oregon men's golf team returns to California this week to compete in the Fresno State Classic, April 1-3.

The Ducks are coming off a second-place finish last weekend at the Northern California Collegiate in Stockton, Calif., after leading that tourney going into the final round.

Oregon coach Jim Ferguson admits that youth may be the reason the Ducks have fallen short in last week's loss and in earlier losses he believes this young team, consisting of two juniors, five sophomores and a freshman should be able one of the best he has ever had.

best of 13.76. Wright will be joined by horizontal jumper Lamar Hurd (13.7 in high school), Dwight Robertson (14.16) and Don Ward (14.76).

Ward, a sophomore, will lead the Ducks in the 400-meter intermediate hurdles. Ward went out early in the season last year at the Louisiana State Invitational to post the second-best time in the intermediates in school history with a 50.99 before being slowed by a late-season ankle sprain.

In the middle and long distances, Oregon has always been tough. But this year may be a little different.

Bill McChesney returns to the squad as the top-ranked American in the 5,000-meters by Track & Field News and sixth on the world list. The senior is the Ducks' best hope for big points at the NCAA meet. McChesney (13:17.77) will be joined by all-American Jim Hill (13:48.39) and Greg Erwin (13:57.70) in the 5,000, but the trio will also fluctuate between the 1,500 and the 10,000.

"We don't have a 1,500 specialist, so we'll be switching some runners around this year," says head coach Delinger. "We'll be moving one or two guys from the 5,000 to the 1,500 each week." David Mack (1:46/3:44.85), Torstein Brox (1:49/3:44.9) and Chris Hudson (1:50.8/3:48.34) will be 800-meter runners who can fill-in in the 1,500 the coach says.

Mack is the most promising runner in the middle distances. The two-time defending Pac-10 champion finished fifth last year in the NCAA 800 semi-final heat and is another favorite for big points at this year's meet.

Worthy of the King of Beers.

There's a tradition at Anheuser-Busch. A tradition that says never be satisfied until you've achieved the best.

Now, out of this tradition, comes a light beer worthy of the King of Beers. One with a clean, distinctive taste. Budweiser Light.

It took time. Patience. And a quest for quality that led to the proud list of ingredients and the Beechwood Aging process made famous by the King of Beers.

We know the best never comes easy. That's why there's nothing else like it.

Bring out your best.
