

IFC approves accidental fleeces resolution

The Incredible Fools Committee approved a resolution Wednesday calling for all future Committees to allocate all accidental fleeces to the Sickening Bar Association, OSTRICH club sports, and Recreation and Intermissions.

"This is an idea whose time has come," said IFC member Steve Hairloss, adding that his fellow law students, most of them alleged alcoholics, would certainly join the SBA.

"We just have to support bars," he said. "We could have a bartender as president just as we've had a peanut farmer and an actor in the past years."

"I agree wholeheartedly," said IFC tabler Carstoning Rascal. The SBA can serve as an umbrella organization for Students Working to Investigate Gin, Social Workers' Intoxicant Givers, a student chapter of Alcoholics Anonymous, and other groups, he added.

SWIG One and SWIG Two, as the first two groups named will be known, are for budding toastmasters and barkeepers serving unemployed welfare workers respectively, Rascal said. There are many social workers out of work because of Reaganomics, he added.

"I'm just glad that Jack Dullard of the OSTRICH Bored came to the meeting today to twist arms on OSTRICH club sports," said IFC vice-desker Exalted Roman, who said he supported the entire proposal.

"I also enjoy golf, especially right after crew," Roman said about club sports.

The IFC should support OSTRICH club sports and Recreation and Intermissions, because many students are involved, and subsequently injured, in them, Rascal says. Support for intercollegiate athletics, and inter-university athletics as well, should be slashed, he added.

The injuries could serve to justify the student hell center in the future, Rascal said.

"I've only been mad four times in my life and I'm pissed as hell," he added about the University's desire to remain an athletic supporter.

The ASUO Exception would have no objections to such actions, said Always Contrary, ASUO president of vice for program consummation.

Initial reaction from some members of the Committee, however, was negative.

"What would Republicans think?" said IFC member Divid'n Givesome. He said that Republicans think Recreation and Intermissions and club sports, except for golf, as being socialistic and that GOP members will demand full support of college football.

"Democrats can still follow pro baseball," Givesome said.

"Funding so much athletics is certainly a waste of accidental fleeces for students in Members Interested 'Nough in Useless Suits," IFC member Pethy Baloney said. "Potential and current members of MINUS will not vote for any of you in the future if you pass this."

The objections of Givesome and Baloney were minimized by fellow IFC members Throbbing Pain and new appointee Steala Chain, before Rascal tallied a 7-0 vote.

LTD ROUTE 14 WEDNESDAY, MARCH 31 8:30 AM

We both got on the train at Jefferson Street, exchanged looks and smiles, like a fool I got off at the Eugene Mall. You stayed on the bus. You're short, dumpy, with greasy brown hair. You had on an army field jacket full of holes. I have thick bifocals, red curly hair, a slight moustache and was wearing my father's red and white checked sports coat. The kiss you blew my way knocked the socks off me. Please write. University of Oregon, Carson Hall, Box 43. 4-1
