

SPA to appeal court sanctions

The ASUO constitutional committee agreed Thursday to hear an appeal by the Students For a Progressive Agenda about the ASUO elections court sanctions levied against the coalition.

The constitutional committee also ruled that the elections court incorrectly named the plaintiff in its Tuesday sanctions decision.

The elections court ruled Tuesday that IFC members Jeff Nudelman, Dianne Ritterband-Mason, Mary Alice Holmes and EMU Board member Mary Hotchkiss be removed from office. The court based the sanctions on Houston's charge that the SPA — in the person of presidential candidate Kevin Kouns — had threatened, harassed and attempted to intimidate him.

The court, in deciding that all SPA coalition candidates and elected officials are ineligible to hold office, incorrectly named the ASUO as the plaintiff against the SPA, said Karsten Rasmussen, who heads the committee.

The committee ruled that Jeffrey Houston, the former ASUO presidential candidate who filed the three charges addressed by the court, should be the respondent in the appeal before the constitutional committee.

Houston will be given the opportunity to decide if he wants to file a response brief and/or argue the case, Rasmussen said. If Houston declines, the ASUO will be assigned the responsibility, he said.

Houston could not be reached for comment. Testifying before the committee, Alan Contreras, an ASUO vice president and the ASUO representative, said Houston, not the ASUO, personally witnessed the campaign violations. A witness files an election complaint, he said.

"We (ASUO) did not see these violations," Contreras said.

In its decision, the court repeatedly referred to Houston, not the ASUO, but the court incorrectly named the ASUO as plaintiff, he added.

The constitutional committee will hear oral arguments from both sides Tuesday at 7:30 p.m., Rasmussen said.

Found: one stolen bike, but no owner

If you haven't seen your bike recently, doublecheck your usual parking spot. The Eugene police have recovered a stolen bike that no one has claimed yet.

The police have picked up three bikes stolen from the University area. Two of the owners were from the residence halls, but no one has stepped forward to claim the third bike.

Sgt. Rick Allison, of the Eugene Police Department, says the bike was located in the area around 15th and Agate streets and was stolen around May 15 or 16. The bike does not have a University registration tag, which campus security requires.

The bike is a Schwinn Suburban boy's five speed, Allison says. He notes that the bike was "covered with cobwebs" so it may not have been ridden recently.

He says the owner should know the combination of the padlock found with the bike. For more information, contact Detective Jim Guse at the Eugene Police Department at 687-5174.

Abortion panel discussion set

"Perspectives on Abortion" will be presented today at the Mars Hill Forum.

Alfred Ianora, a Eugene doctor with a general practice; Tom Alderman, a Eugene attorney; Annie Hubbard, a local homemaker; and Doug Groothuis, an instructor with McKenzie Study Center, present their perspectives from noon to 1:30 p.m. at the Koinonia Center, 1414 Kincaid Street.

For more information, call Dick Beswick at 484-1707. Beswick directs the Restoration Campus Ministry — sponsor of the Mars Hill Forum.

POP CUTS

we cut hair for your ego not ours.

M - F 10 - 7, Sat. 9 - 7

2526 Willamette

683-1405

Looking for a good deal?
Check the Emerald ADS.

THE NEW HP-12C.
BUSINESS HAS NEVER LOOKED BETTER!

SPECIAL PRICE
$138.95

The HP-12C's programmability and extensive function set are complemented by its handsome, slim-line design. Your HP-12C will travel comfortably in your shirt pocket, ready to solve your problems wherever you go.

hp HEWLETT PACKARD

UO BOOKSTORE

13th & Kincaid
Mon-Fri 7:30-5:30
Sat 10:00-3:00

Textbooks 686-3520 • General Books 686-3510 • Supplies 686-4331

SANYO

Car Stereo Closeout

ALL UNITS MUST GO!

Call or come in for unheard of prices

SANYO in-dash AM/FM cassette decks starting at $49.95

(sorry not all models available)

Hurry! Quantities limited!

napier audio

2705 Willamette

485-1945

