Holbo appointed vice provost

Paul Holbo, history professor and former acting dean of the University arts and sciences college has been appointed vice provost for academic affairs, Provost Richard Hill has announced.

Holbo, 53, replaces Robert Albrecht, vice provost from 1977 until this summer when he resigned to become vice president for academic affairs at the University of Northern Colorado. Holbo's appointment is effective Aug. 9.

A member of the faculty since 1959, Holbo served as associate dean of the college from 1970 to 1973, then as acting dean for the following year.

He has been elected to and chaired several major faculty committees including the Faculty Advisory Council, 1978-80, and the Faculty Personnel committee, 1975-77. He also chaired the President's Ad Hoc Committee on Housing and the Library Collection, 1978-79, and headed the search committee for the University librarian two years ago.

"We are extremely fortunate to have Professor Holbo accept the position of vice provost. He has had demanding administrative assignments in the past and he has been elected by the faculty to serve on the University's most influential committees," Hill said in making the announcement.

"He is a scholar who has earned an international reputation in his field. He is a dedicated teacher with a deep concern for both undergraduate and graduate education and his devotion to the University is above question," he noted.

"I am looking forward to working with him on a range of problems that must be addressed if the quality of the University is to be preserved."

A native of Wildrose, N.D., Holbo earned his bachelor's degree from Yale University with high honors, and his master's and doctoral degrees from the University of Chicago. He was a lecturer at Chicago before coming to Oregon.

He is the author of a book titled "United States Policies Toward China" and the editor of several others. A new book, "Tarnished Expansion: The Alaska Scandal, the Press, and Congress, 1867-1871," is in press while another book, "Harry S. Truman and the Cold War," is in progress.

He has also written chapters for several books on foreign policy and numerous journal articles on foreign policy and diplomatic history.

Holbo currently is chairman of the Committee on American History for the College Entrance Exam Board, and has served on various committees for the organization of American Historians of American Foreign Relations, and of Phi Beta Kappa, liberal arts honorary.

In Eugene, he currently is a member of the Junior First Citizen Selection Committee for the Chamber of Commerce and president of the Rubicon Society.

He and his wife Kay have two children.
