Atiyeh names crime panel
Special commission to study violence

SALEM (AP) — Gov. Vic Atiyeh has named an 11-member panel to study violent crime in Oregon.

The Special Commission Against Violent Crime was a major part of the governor's anti-crime program, which was announced last month.

Members of the commission are Brian Riley, Springfield;

Thomas Duryee, Klamath Falls; Berkeley Smith, St. Helens; Frederic Starkweather Jr., Gold Beach; Melvin Scofield, Salem; Gary Thompson, Prineville; and Larry Moylett, Aloha; William Baker, Dr. Charles Tracy, Simon Kornbrodt and Ross Neely, all of Portland.

Attorney General Dave Frohnmayer will head the commission. Unofficial members include the superintendent of state police, the director of the state Board of Police Standards and Training, the chairman of the state Board of Parole, the state medical examiner, and the administrator of the Corrections Division.

Atiyeh's office said a representative from the juvenile court system may be added later.

The governor has asked the commission for ways of improving the state probation and parole system, options in dealing with youthful offenders and new ways of fighting drug trafficking.

He also asked the commission to review the judicial process and recommend ways to end frivolous appeals. Atiyeh said he wants it to find new ways to finance victims' compensation programs and consider the advisability of offering tax incentives to encourage homeowners to install home security systems. Finally, the governor asked the commission to find new ways to encourage volunteer involvement in law enforcement.

The initial meeting is set for Oct. 5. Atiyeh asked that the commission give reports at 30-day intervals until the start of next year's legislative session.

This calculator thinks business.
The TI Student Business Analyst.

If there's one thing undergrad business students have always needed, this is it: an affordable, business-oriented calculator. The Student Business Analyst. Its built-in business formulas let you perform complicated finance, accounting and statistical functions—the ones that usually require a lot of time and a stack of reference books, like present and future value calculations, amortizations and balloon payments.

It all means you spend less time calculating, and more time learning. One keystroke takes the place of many.

The calculator is just part of the package. You also get a book that follows most business courses: the Business Analyst Guidebook. Business professors helped us write it, to help you get the most out of calculator and classroom. A powerful combination.

Think business. With the Student Business Analyst.

Reagan mask doesn't fool police officers

PORTLAND, (AP) — A man wearing a rubber Halloween mask bearing the likeness of Pres. Ronald Reagan broke into a Southeast Portland convalescent care center early Sunday and threatened four workers, police said.

Police said Wallace Dickerson, 43, of Auburn, Wash., was arrested in connection with the incident and accused of first-degree robbery, first-degree burglary and possession of a controlled substance.

Dickerson removed an outdoor window screen at the center, climbed into the building and walked down a hallway, waving a knife at four employees, police said.

He demanded morphine and a syringe, but was given the pain killer Nubain and a syringe, said Deputy Bart Whalen of the Multnomah County Sheriff's Department.

About five minutes later, Dickerson was arrested, Whalen said.

He said Dickerson was held in the Multnomah County Courthouse Jail with bail set at $50,000.
