 John Carpenter's
ESCAPE FROM NEW YORK

An out-of-this-world adventure on the streets of a dead Manhattan, ESCAPE FROM NEW YORK has quickly become a cult favorite among sci-fi fans because of its intense melodramatic plot, subtle levity, intriguing two-dimensional characters, and cool eeriness in design. Carpenter hones a fine, fantastic comic book edge which movies such as SUPERMAN and FLASH GORDON are missing. Starring Kurt Russell, Adrienne Barbeau, Isaac Hayes, Donald Pleasence, Season Hubley, Ernest Borgnine as "Cabbie," and a cast of sewer "crazies." Filmed in Cinemascope.

MOMMIE DEAREST

Faye Dunaway delivers a "startling, and ferocious" performance as Joan Crawford in the waning days of her career. Spurned by her studio, the once bankable Crawford finds herself a prisoner of her past. A savage and compelling satire, MOMMIE DEAREST exposes a tyrannical Hollywood in the days of its reign as star-maker and star-breaker.

 John Lennon in

HOW I WON THE WAR

The surrealistic satiric war film to end all war films. HOW I WON THE WAR recounts the experiences of a platoon of British soldiers in World War II. They bumble from one shambles of a project to another. The film features John Lennon of the Beatles in his first solo appearance and the amazingly wacky stamp of director Richard Lester, the only director capable of injecting song and dance into the battlefields.

SUFI CIRCLE PRESENTS
BREAKER MORANT
 Based on a true story, the film is set when England was waging the Boer War in Africa. England court-martialed three Australian volunteer soldiers for murdering Boer prisoners of war, and denied that these soldiers were acting under British orders. The Aussies were given a stunning defense by an inexperienced, but brash, Australian lawyer who exposed the hypocrisy behind the trial. Awarded the Cannes Film Festival Best Supporting Actor Award.

FIDDLER ON THE ROOF
 A spectacular screen production of one of Broadway's most successful musicals ever. The role of Tevye is played with great charm by the famous Israeli actor, Topol. A score of hits ("Sunrise, Sunset," "To Life") and filmed in its real life location in Eastern Europe, this film is a joyous celebration of a people's ability to adapt and survive.
