

emu Cafeteria
QUICHE
80¢ Served from 11 a.m.
WEDNESDAYS

the Hair Loft
 for Men and Women
 COUPON/
 $2.00 off Haircuts (with this coupon)
 CAMPUS: 1250 Alder 485-1202 19th STREET: 484-2565
 (Across from Sacred Heart) (Cineplex from Campus)
 Expiration Date 10/30/82

imported
Coffee & Teas
 October
 Bean of the Month
Mocha Java
 $4.85 per pound
 860 E. 13th Ave. • Kinko's • 344-7894

Fall Schedule of Activities

Activity	Div.*	Min. # Play	Entry Deadline	Start Date
Bowling*	M-W-C	4	10/15	10/18
Slow Bike Race	M-W	1	10/12	10/12
Frisbee Golf Tournament	M-W	1	10/15	10/18
Golf Scramble	M-W	2	10/15	10/18
Ultimate Frisbee Tournament	M-W-C	7	10/15	10/16
Cross Country Meet*	M-W-C	4	10/18	10/20
Predict Time - Fun Run	M-W	1	11/3	11/3
Bowling Doubles	M-W-C	2	11/3	11/3
Wrestling	M	4	11/5	11/9
3 X 3 Basketball	M-W	3	11/8	11/10
Racquetball Doubles	M-W	2	11/12	11/13
Crippled Turkey - Fun Run	M-W	1	11/17	11/17
Basketball Tune-up Tournament	M-W	5	12/11	12/4

* Intramural Sport - Under IM Regulations
 * M-Men, W-Women, C-Co-ed

paul danzer

dribbling around

On my way to class the other day, I ran into a friend I hadn't seen since last spring.

"Hey!" he shouted, "Who's going to win the pennant?"

I was slightly taken aback. The question, of course, seems logical enough. After all, the league playoffs were just getting underway. Baseball was moving from the drama of the divisional races toward the World Series.

But, coming from this friend, the question was out of character. You see, my friend is an All-Pro armchair quarterback. The only ball he was familiar with was a pigskin spiral. The only pitcher he cared about was the one filled with beer at his side.

I recovered from my surprise, and assured my friend that the St. Louis Cardinals will fly to the top of the baseball world this year.

"The Cardinals!" he retorted. "They won't even beat the Braves. Murphy and Horner hit more home runs this year than the entire Cardinal team."

"True," I said, still not believing what I was hearing, "but the Cardinals' speed makes up for it. And besides, they have Bruce Sutter in the bullpen. He had 36 saves this year, once the Cards get a lead they won't be beat."

By this time I was dying to ask him when he had discovered baseball, a sport he often described as sissy. "What could be fun about a game like baseball," I remember him saying. "The only thing that ever gets hit is a little white ball, and it never bleeds."

It was, of course, a stupid question. He admitted his discovery of America's pastime occurred just three weeks ago when he turned his TV dial in search of his beloved Cowboy's and found the Padres and Braves instead.

"Those NFL slobs are nothing but a bunch of egotistical, self-serving jerks," my friend said. "All they care about is padding their wallets."

I sympathized with him, but I pointed out that there are two sides to every conflict. "NFL players are underpaid," I said, "especially when compared with other professional athletes. The big problem is, they want to change the system, not just their bank accounts."

"Yeah," my friend said, "But they don't care about the fans."

"Sure they do," I answered. "That's one of the reasons they tried to schedule those All-Star games. The person who is only thinking of himself is Ed Garvey, the players' union leader. He has been unwilling to budge from his unrealistic demand of 55-percent of gross revenue. That's the problem."

"Maybe so," he replied, "but they don't have the same feeling for the fans that baseball players do. Tommy Lasorda and the Dodgers were all out on the mound last week saluting their fans for supporting them so well, that is what sports is all about. You know baseball drew a record number of fans this year."

"I know," I said. "That's very nice. But do you remember what baseball players treated the fans to last season?"

It was another stupid question since my friend had only been following baseball for three weeks.

"I know the Dodgers won the World Series," my friend answered.

"The Dodgers didn't even belong in the playoffs," I said. "Cincinnati had the best record in baseball, but didn't get to go to the playoffs because of the strike which split the season in half."

"Oh well," he said. "that was last year. This year is all that matters now, and the Braves are on the way."

"That is what the football people will be saying a year from now," I said as I headed into the classroom.

"Who cares about football now," my friend yelled back. "It's three strikes and you're out."

UO
 RECREATION &
 INTRAMURALS
 103 Gerlinger Hall
 x4113 or x4121

Bring Out Your Best With RIM

Bowling - The intramural bowling deadline has been extended to October 15. Entry blanks are available at the RIM office in 103 Gerlinger. A team consists of four players. There is no entry fee; however, there is a charge for bowling.

Frisbee Golf Tournament - The date has been changed. The tournament will be on Oct. 18, with entries due on October 15.

Ultimate Frisbee Tournament - Get your entry in now and join the fun! Co-ed is played with 7 men and 7 women. The men play one-half and women play the other half. There are also divisions for men's and women's teams.

Golf Scramble - A new event this Fall, played at Laurelwood Golf Course. A team consists of two players. Tee off will be a 3 p.m. on October 18. Entries are due October 15. Check at the RIM office for the details.

Intertube Water Basketball - There's still time to get your intertube basketball team entered for the action! The entry deadline has been extended 'till October 15, 5 p.m.

Intramural Cross Country Meet - Entries are due Monday, October

18; and the meet will be run Wednesday, October 20. Entries are accepted for 4 person teams or individuals may enter unattached the day of the meet. There are divisions for men, women and co-ed teams.

RESULTS

EVENT	1st Place	2nd Place
Tennis Singles	Lisa Yaeger	-----
Women	Steve Friedman	Dwayne Jeanotto
Men - Novice	Dan Orman	Nick Beres
Men - Intermediate	Richard Ming	Hai Zweben
Men - Advanced
Fun Run - Oct. 6
2 Mile
Women	Sherryl Kubel	Lori Anderson
Men	Charles Danzig	-----
4 Mile
Women	Tina Lee	Catherine Croonquist
Men	Kevin Barclay	Dan Thorpe

BUD LIGHT
 BEER

Budweiser presents this page as a service to students interested in recreation and intramurals. Publication of RIM News should not be interpreted in any way as an endorsement of the sponsor's product by the University of Oregon.