SNUFF allowed space in EMU

By Richard Burr
Of the Emerald

The EMU Board housing committee approved partial office space in Suite 1 Wednesday for Students for a Nuclear Free Future while delaying a decision on the adjoining office space.

The committee unanimously approved the allotment motion, which is subject to review after winter term. The committee considered allocating all available office space, formerly used by University Veterans Association and Women's Symposium, but approved allocation of half the space.

The remaining unallocated space will remain under committee control, but will be available for the general use by any program, said Alan Scarce, housing committee chair. The motion must be approved by the EMU Board before being implemented.

The committee considered requests by SNUFF, a group concerned with environmental and nuclear issues, and Frank Geltner, University program consultant, for the space. Geltner said he wanted the space for expansion of his office, which is located in Suite 2 with the Cultural Forum.

Adam Schultz, SNUFF representative, said the program needed the space for its growing membership. The group has 35-45 members and more students are joining with each meeting, he said.

Having SNUFF in Suite 1 would be appropriate since most of the groups in the suite are environmentally oriented, Schultz said. The group also coordinates activities with the Suite 1 programs, he added.

Representatives from Suite 1 programs said they thought SNUFF fit in better with the environmental orientation of the suite. The programs also said they wanted to see a student organization receive the space.

Geltner said the program consultant's office would give University groups without office space a place to work. Students from such organizations could use the space for finding program-related information, typing, and meeting, he said.

Geltner occupies the Suite 1 conference room, which was allocated to him last year and is subject to review at the end of the term.

John Dulcich, EMU Board chair, moved to split the space between the groups. The committee amended his motion in a 5-2 vote, with Dulcich and EMU director Adell McMillan dissenting, allocating half the space to SNUFF and retaining the other half for further discussion.

ASUO representative Paul Rudinsky said Geltner should work with Vincson Green, ASUO vice president for program development, to find space in Suite 4 for program expansion.

Mona, I've finally decided where I'd like to make my career: State Farm!

State Farm? Great Plowshares! You're going to be a soil tiller. Living an agrarian lifestyle!

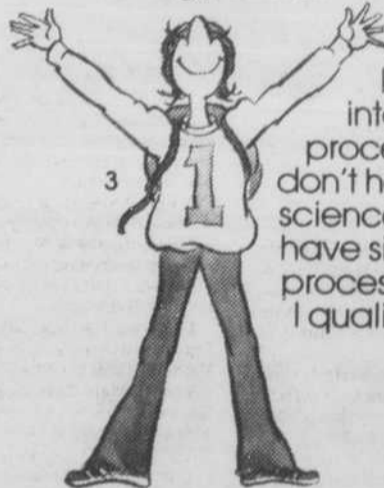

Come on now! State Farm is an insurance company.

Virgil, you're going to be a salesman? How could you? Even if they'd have you...

Mona, there's more to insurance than selling policies. Insurance is opportunity. State Farm is looking for people interested in a data processing career. I don't have a computer science degree but I do have six hours of data processing courses. So I qualify!

No way, Mona. State Farm is looking for men and women with any degree and six to nine hours of data processing courses. Of course, you've got to be interested in a data processing career.

Good grief! They're omnivorous.

No, but they're also interested in people in mathematics, accounting, law and actuarial sciences.

Incidentally, the pay is great!

Uh, Virgil, wear a clean pair of jeans to the interview.

Alan Scarce named to chair Greek's council

Alan Scarce of Phi Kappa Psi has been elected president of the Interfraternity Council.

Scarce, a business junior and chairer of the EMU Board housing committee, was the sole presidential candidate. Fraternity presidents elect the council president.

The president administers the council's long-term planning, Scarce says. The council emphasizes community service, scholarship, campus activity involvement and intramurals' participation, he says.
